A Guardianship Court Case

By BOB HEMINGWAY

(Earlier Story, Page 8)

A Negro social service worker recommended on Monday that guardianship of four orphaned South San Francisco children of a mixed racial marriage be awarded to the youngsters' white grandparents.

Presiding Superior Judge James T. O'Keefe said at the conclusion of court testimony that he will make a decision "within a few days" as to who will be guardians of the four Gaines orphans, their black uncle, Air Force Staff Sgt. Benjamin Gaines, and his wife, Yvonne, or the white grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Rygiewicz.

Testimony over custody of the children concluded with the recommendation of Gene Suttle, social services supervisor for the San Francisco Redevelopment Agency, that for the "continuity of relationship" the children, Christian Gaines, 6; twins, Michael and Laurance, 5, and their sister, Linda, 4, should be placed in the guardianship of the late Mrs. Marsha Gaines' parents.

The guardianship battle resulted from the death July 30 of the children's Caucasian mother following a South San Francisco auto accident. The children's Negro father, Laurance died in 1965.

Suttle testified that the only family the children knew outside of their parents, prior to Mrs. Gaines' death, were Mr. and Mrs. Rygiewicz, whom they had visited with their mother in Milwaukee, Wis.

The uncle testified earlier that although he and his brother had communicated by letter and exchanged photographs of their respective children the first time he saw the local Gaines youngsters was following their mother's death this past summer.

Suttle was adamant that the children, following the shock of their parents' deaths and being seperated from known relationship (with the grandparents) might encounter "another trauma."

He contended that the Rygiewiczs "will continue in a role with the children that is familiar with the children."

One thing that the Rygiewicz's attorney, Don E. Bailey, sought to emphasize during the Monday's continuation of the opening Friday hearing was that Gaines' income as an Air Force enlisted man may not be sufficient to support the additional burden of four youngsters. Sgt. Gaines and his wife have two children of their own, Benjamin, 12, and Karen, 11.

Gaines takes home a total of $411 a month in pay, including housing allowance, and his wife nets another $200 as a clerk in an office at Langley Air Force Base, where Gaines is stationed. However, Mrs. Gaines testified that she plans to immediately quit her job and devote her activities to household duties if the couple is awarded custody of the orphans.

Another witness, Barney R. Griswold, a county probation officer, recommended guardianship be awarded to the Gaines, stating that the grandparents "don't appear too financially stable," although Rygiewicz, an automobile company millwright, has an income of $800 a month.

One of the main contentions of Gaines and his attorney, John McInerney, is that the ages of the Rygiewiczs is against them, he is 55 and she is 54; also the fact that Rygiewicz has suffered a heart attack.

Sgt. Gaines is seeking transfer to Hamilton Air Force Base in order that the children, if placed under his guardianship, can continue to reside in an area with which they are familiar. Mr. and Mrs. Rygiewicz intend to take the children to Milwaukee if they are made guardians.

Judge O'Keefe, with the unenviable task of making the decision, will spend the next few days weighing the two days of testimony.

'Surplus' Navy Land

A 'Planned Community' For Site Is Proposed

There are approximately 26 acres of land owned by the U.S. Navy within the San Bruno city limits that are scheduled to become "surplus" by January 1, 1970.

So said Dr. Haven Doane, chairman of the Board of the Council of Churches Housing Development Corporation of San Mateo County, to San Bruno city councilmen Monday.

Doane, along with Fred Whittlesey, also a Council of Churches board member, and project architect and consultant; and Jack Schonborn, a representative of the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, outlined a proposal for a planned community on this site.

According to Schonborn, the property, once declared surplus, will go to the government's General Services Administration for disposal. One method of disposing of the property is by responding to the needs of a community, and using the property for housing. Schonborn called it using surplus land for community development.

As a non-profit corporation, the Council of Churches Housing Development Corporation would oversee the project, which must meet rigid HUD standards.

Doane said his group has been looking for sites all over San Mateo County for this type of housing.

His concern on Monday was whether the San Bruno city councilmen would consider the project, and if there would be any way his organization and the city could work together on it.

The councilmen made no commitments other than that they would take it under advisement and contact Doane later on their decision. City Manager Gerard Vergeer said the matter would be presented to the planning commissioners for their consideration.

Under HUD's requirements, the development must be a community of diversity, with such things as a recreational area and service center.

It must have residential density, with effective use of open space. Persons who would be living in the community and receiving subsidies would in effect be under rent control.

"Quality low and moderate income housing, close to shopping areas is our objective," said Doane. "It will be a base for middle, the upper mobile, and economic bottom class groups.

"The boundaries of the proposed development would blend with the adjacent upper income group," he said. "And the desire is to build in as much variety as possible."

Roughly, the area under discussion borders on El Camino Real and north of the new freeway access route.

Sharp Park Road

Pacifica Approves Preliminary Plans

Pacifica City councilmen Monday approved preliminary plans for a four-lane, split level roadway covering about three-quarters of a mile on upper Sharp Park Road.

Completion of final maps and specifications in time for spring bidding is anticipated, municipal officials declared.

The roadway, near the NIKE base and Skyline College entrances, is to be realigned, and college access road signalization is planned in the project, expected to be a three-way effort by San Bruno, Pacifica and the San Mateo Junior College District.

The council also let a bid to the L. C. Smith Company for overlaying major Pacifica streets, at a bid cost of $92,885.

Included among the streets to be re-surfaced are Crespi Drive, from Ladero to Fassler; Linda Mar Boulevard, from Peralta to Oddstadt; and Reina Del Mar, from the Coast Highway to Richling.

Councilmen tabled adoption of the Wander Inn rezoning ordinance, pending completion of paper work and held over until its next meeting a proposed City of Pacifica-Laguna Salada School District agreement on use of recreation facilities.

Pacifican Is Named To Juvenile Post

Appointment of Mrs. Ruth Boudinot of Pacifica to the San Mateo County Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention Commission was announced today by Superior Court Judge W. Howard Hartley.

Mrs. Boudinot, of 363 Bancroft Way, has served for 10 years on the board of trustees of the Laguna Salada School District.

The 13-member commission, representing a cross-section of the county, has been involved in such projects as a narcotics inquiry, a survey of problems of placing youngsters in foster homes and institutions, and the establishment of a youth service bureau in Pacifica.

San Brunan Is Run Over By Own Car

A San Bruno man is in the intensive care unit of Peninsula Hospital after being accidentally dragged and run over by his own car, according to San Bruno police.

Authorities in San Bruno said the victim, Alfred T. Hennessy of 168 Cypress Avenue, was getting into his car on the curb side, when his wife, 45-year-old Lorraine Hennessy, apparently got the vehicle into reverse gear accidentally trapping Hennessy half-in, half-out of the auto.

The auto then shot backward, police said, dragging Hennessy and then running over him.

The victim's wife said she did not know how to drive, said a police department spokesman, who noted the couple had just left the Doghouse Bar with the intent of going to dinner.

He was said by police to have had the entire lower lip and jaw ripped away, in addition to having possible compound fractures to the right leg.

The accident was at El Camino Real near San Marco Avenue.

School Board Shuns Bruno Rec Proposal

By BOB PETERSON

Members of the San Bruno Park School board apparently are not satisfied with the action by San Bruno councilmen which gave the school district the responsibility for their own intramural program.

"The proposal is unacceptable to the board," said Superintendent George Lawry. "They feel that the city is shirking its responsibilities."

Board members intend to ask for another meeting between the board and members of the city council. City Manager Gerard Vergeer said the city has not as yet received such a request.

Councilmen Monday night agreed to delete $6,500 from the budget; money that normally would be presented to the city from the school district for a city-operated recreation program.

The school district, as a result, now is responsible for their own intramural recreation program, which is not a "public" program.

At issue was the suggested imposition of fees on students who took part in the city-sponsored intermediate after-school recreation program. Fees had never been levied before, and the parents descended en masse on both the school board and the city council, seeking a free recreation program.

According to Lawry, the school district can maintain an intramural program without the city's aid.

"They're (the city) saying you (the school district) take the $6,500, plus the $5,500 you were going to offer, and operate the recreation program," said Lawry.

The school district had offered to split the cost of the operation of a recreational program up to a total cost of $11,000.

"It's a problem of a distinction of the philosophy of a complete recreation program versus a school intramural program," said Lawry.

Both the city and the school district share one another's facilities. Apparently, if the city operates the program, all children from surrounding areas are welcome. However, if the program were to be run by the school, only those San Bruno Park School District students would be able to take part.

"Our board has always been pushing for a city-operated rec-

S.M. Man Picks 13 of 15 Winners in Grid Contest

Tom Hamer, 3356 Los Prados, San Mateo, is the first week winner in The Times-Post annual football contest.

Hamer picked 13 of 15 contests correctly and guessed within three yeards the total rushing and passing yardage of the San Francisco 49ers. He will receive two tickets to the Cal-Stanford Big Game.

Six other contestants also picked 13 games correctly but their estimates of net yardage gained by the 49ers were less accurate.

Since no contestant picked all 15 games correctly, next week's jackpot will be $100 to anyone picking all 15 games correctly plus a $50 bonus to a winner who is a Times subscriber.

Contest judges reported that some persons mailed more than three entries and that many envelopes contained more than one entry blank, resulting in disqualification of those entries.

There also were several entry blanks in envelopes postmarked after the midnight Thursday deadline which made them ineligible.

S.S.F. Police Association Asks a Chief From Ranks

The South San Francisco Police Association made it clear to city councilmen last week that they want the position being vacaed by Chief John Fabbri filled from within the department, if possible.

Councilmen, who met in a personnel session after a special council meeting on another matter, made no decision on the matter.

City Manager Tom McKenzie told a group of policemen, who waited out the personnel session, that the councilmen felt they should meet again in an other personnel session to look into the police association request more fully.

McKenzie said a tentative meeting was set for this coming Monday at 6 p.m. In case conflicts make this time inconvenient, an alternate meeting date of the following Friday (September 26) at 7 p.m. was set.

The police association made their position known in a letter to McKenzie, signed by South San Francisco Police Association president Raymond McKeon.

It read in part:

"It has come to the attention of the South San Francisco Police Association that it is your intention to recommend that the successor to Chief of Police John Fabbri be filled by conducting an open examination.

"It is strongly felt by this association that there is no necessity to hold an open examination because of the calibre of personnel within the department and the degree of credentials they hold."

The association letter recommended a closed examination by an outside professional body determine the successor from those qualified within the department. "Should a qualified candidate fail to materialize," read the letter. "then an open examination would be appropriate."

The letter also stated that many members of the department have given much of their time and effort in order to advance themselves, and an open examination would only destroy and diminish the initiative, energy and opportunity to any future advancement.

S.S.F. Improvements

The Next Target Is Police Station

Now that the city of South San Francisco has reached its goal of a municipal swimming pool, the next target is a new police station complex.

So said Mayor Frank Bertucelli in announcing a Thursday night citizens committee meeting to discuss capital improvements for the city. The group is scheduled to meet in the council chambers.

The city already has set aside, as part of the capital improvements budget, $200,000 for a new police station complex. Tentative plans call for a renovation of the present facility, with possible expansion later.

The new pool, which is to be completed within about eight months, will be the first city-owned facility. There are two other pools in the city open to the public. These are operated by the school system.

Located at Orange Memorial Park, the new pool will have an indoor water surface of 45 - by 75 feet. The Martinelli Construction Company of San Francisco was the low bidder on the project with $429,458.

Two other contracts beneficial to residents of the city call for a total of $306,920 in improvements at two parksites. The A&J Shooter Company of San Mateo was awarded both contracts.

Improvement at the proposed Westborough 10-acre park will cost $260,250. There were 11 prime bidders competing for the project.

The second project was in the amount of $46,670 for improvement of the proposed 2½ acre

SSF Firemen Chase Down Moving Fire

By WILL E. THOMAS

You know the old cops 'n robbers game, with the line, "Follow that car!"?

Well, South San Francisco Fire Department Battalion Chief Jack Drago has always wanted to shout that, and he had a chance Monday to come close to it:

"Follow that truck!" Drago yelled to Fire Capt. Don Nelson, when he was told by another fireman, Howard McFarland, that a garbage truck, smoke billowing from it, had just passed Central Fire Station, at Baden and Cypress.

Capt. Nelson and other fire men hopped into a fire engine and indeed did "follow that truck" — redlight aglow and siren awhining. A fire department pickup truck pulled up in front of the garbage truck and halted its forward movement and the fire engine crew came up from behind and extinguished the blaze, which was in old gunny sacks.

The sacks were against the manifold, Chief Drago said, and caught fire when the truck motor overheated.

Guns Stolen From Home In San Bruno

Burglars made off with a San Bruno arsenal of sorts Monday, police reported today.

Taken—in addition to a cigarette lighter, a case of wine, $50 in cash, two $30 rings and a radio—were four rifles, a pistol, a shotgun and 3,000 rounds of .45-caliber ammunition, according to San Bruno authorities, who said the victim was Sixto Francisco Matulac.

Matulao, they said, reported that burglars pried open a back door to his residence at 200 Amador Drive, ransacked the rooms and took the items.

Value of the loss was reported to be $985.

Election Set By Chamber

The Daly City Chamber of Commerce will conduct election of officers October 9, with seven candidates.

Four incumbents are included. They are Elio Fontana, presently the president; Mayor Bernard Lycett, Postmaster Vincent Murphy, and William Sweeney.

Newcomers will include Robert Brant, former municipal judge Paul Hupf and Frank Macchia.

Installation and past president's night will be November 15, according to the general manager, Peter J. Markovich, at the Olympic Club.

The Board of Directors' next meeting will be October 9 and the general membership session is to be October 16 at Toto's restaurant.

A 14-year-old South San Francisco youth on Monday was turned over to the custody of his parents after being found under the influence of narcotics at Parkway Junior High School.

Police said a teacher thought the youth appeared to be "high" and sent him to the school nurse. The nurse, in turn, called the police.

According to the report, the youngster voluntarily turned over two pills. He told police he obtained them from another youth.

New Police Station Seen At South S.F.

Callan Park West park. Shooter won this contract because the city decided to use sodding, rather than the conventional lawn seeding.

The reasons given for recommending sodding were that it would give immediate use of the play field without having to wait for the seed to germinate; it will reduce vandalism and the necessity for keeping children off the play field; and the maintenance cost will be less than what that of seeding would be.

Each contract carries a penalty clause; $100 a day for late work on the pool and $50 a day for late work on the parksites.

Said Councilman Frank Mammini, "Make it clear we will invoke the penalty."

Annual Fall Bonsai Show In South City October 4

The South San Francisco Recreation and Park Department is sponsoring its second annual Fall Bonsai Show, Saturday, October 4, from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. The show will be held at the Magnolia Recreation Center at the corner of Grand and Magnolia Avenues, South San Francisco. Admission will be free.

The San Mateo Bonsai Club, noted for their fine collections of beautiful bonsai trees, will be exhibiting again this year and also presenting a demonstration of the art of creating a miniature tree by pruning and wiring. The demonstration will be held at 2 p.m.

In response to the interest in the show held last year at the library, the South San Francisco Recreation and Park Department is inviting all local bonsai growers to participate.

Any resident of South San Francisco who would like to display his bonsai trees should contact the department by phone or mail and obtain an entry form. The office is located at the Magnolia Recreation Center. The mailing address is City Hall, South San Francisco.

There will be no entry fees. Entry forms must be returned no later than September 30.

Due to limited space, entries will be limited to not more than five from each owner. Entries may be of any specie or variety as long as they fit the description of bonsai trees. Bonsai is the Japanese word for a dwarfed tree or trees in a suitable container to suggest nature in miniature or to create landscape effect in miniature.

"If you saw the bonsai show last year at the library, you will want to see this year's show at Magnolia Center. If you missed last year's show, don't miss this year's! And—if you want to exhibit a bonsai tree, get an entry form right away," a spokesman says.

Deny Permit For Blasting

South San Francisco councilmen saved a potentially disastrous situation by denying a request for a blasting permit. Because, as it turned out, the blasting site was within ten feet of a 10-inch jet fuel pipeline.

The request, from the Piombo Construction Company, was originally received last month. In their letter, dated August 12, they requested a permit to blast in an area adjacent to San Bruno Creek. The exact location was identified as 1,200 feet northeast of the intersection of South Airport Boulevard and a north access road to the airport, at the north boundary of the San Francisco airport.

An inter-office memo from the director of public works advised the councilmen that office had reviewed the blasting permit request and had inspected the site.

They also recommended that the permit be approved, subject to several conditions regarding public liability.

Jeff High Plans Koffee Klatches

By WILL THOMAS

The age of the koffee klatch really has arrived, and the Jefferson Union High School District has given the grass roots concept official dignity with its announcement that 25 such gatherings will be scheduled for administrators and trustees during the just-started school term.

District Supt. Edward Morgan said that one of five of the administrators in his office and one of the five members of the Board of Trustees will attend each of the klatches.

"The coffees will be an effort on the part of the board," explained Dr. Harold Tonini, assistant superintendent for personnel, "for the board to explain various programs and to listen to the people."

Morgan said he hopes this week to contact each member of the Board of Trustees, and, working with his own administrative staff, prepare a master list of klatches for board review at its next meeting.

A list of persons in the Pacifica-Daly City communities willing to host the klatches in their homes also is to be formulated, Morgan said, noting that groups of no more than 10 to 12 persons probably would be hoped for.

Actually, the koffee klatch is nothing new, though its use has been intensified during the past two years, on political as well as educational fronts.

Klatches at individual schools "have been well received and very beneficial," pointed out Tonini.

Former Principals Ed Ceeghino at Jefferson and Richard Coltrell at Westmoor used klatches as one means of parent-school contact last term.

Tonini described the klatches as "another communications device" that can be used to clarify questions of all types.

"People have been quite receptive to this type of thing," Tonini noted.

They seem to "appreciate that this communications device is open to them," he said.

South San Francisco junior and senior high teams have an opportunity to participate in programming activities they enjoy — dances, trips and other social events. The adult recreation leaders working at the Teen Center welcome all teens to the Center.

Teen Club cards are available for those interested and may be purchased in the afternoon at the Center. Cards are at times good for free dances, trips and other events.

Boat Overturns

Bruno Man Aids In Bay Rescue

Two San Mateo boys were pulled from the bay Sunday after their boat overturned a mile from land just north of Coyote Point.

They were rescued by Coyote Point Harbormaster Arthur O'Leary and his aide, Keith Baker, 264 Cypress, San Bruno.

O'Leary said that he was called by Dan Kaul, 106 Prague Street, San Mateo, from the beach at 2 p.m. Kaul told the harbormaster the boat had overturned when the water suddenly turned rough.

O'Leary and Baker rushed to one of the Harbor Patrol boats, a 24-foot speedboat, and headed it out into the tossing seas at high speed. Smashing through three-foot waves, they found the boys clinging to the overturned boat, a ten-foot homemade craft which had been powered by a small outboard motor.

The two boys, who O'Leary identified as Richard Aul, 16, of 1403 Metford Avenue, and John Kimball, 15, of 1505 Sharon Place, San Mateo, were grimly clinging to the boat.

"They were obviously pretty happy to see us," O'Leary said, "although they were too chilled to talk for a while."

He said that only Kimball had been wearing his jacket, and that when the boat overturned, the other jacket had been thrown under the boat. "They were in the water half an hour."

O'Leary said that after they got the boys aboard, they wrapped them in blankets, and towed the boat to the beach. They then took the boys to the harbormaster's office, where he served them hot bouillon that he keeps there for that purpose.

This sort of thing happens all the time, O'Leary commented. "Three weeks ago, on a weekend, we pulled eight people out in five such accidents."

The harbormaster explained that while he has been all over the world (he's a Navy veteran) and seen every kind of water, he has never seen water more treacherous than San Francisco Bay.

Rough water and wind come up so suddenly you can't believe it, he continued, and the water is just plain treacherous.

He'd like the papers to mention this he said, because too many people take chances with the bay.

Aged 'Too Poor,' D.C. Sr. Citizens Ask Tax Relief

Members of the Senior Citizens of Daly City appeared in force before county supervisors Wednesday to appeal for immediate tax relief—saying they were "simply too poor to buy food."

Julius Castelan, president of the senior citizens' group, appealed, "We represent 5,000 people, but they're dying all the time. Help them before they die!

Castelan, who headed a delegation of some 25 elderly citizens, put it to the county board: "Our problem, folks, is this: the luxury of food. These people, simply, are too poor to buy food.

Castelan maintained that more food stamps are used in Daly City than in any other city in the county.

"You fat cats who sit there and who eat all you want don't realize that senior citizens have to stop eating in the middle of the day to pay their taxes.

"Each day," Castelan continued, "many older citizens are called upon to make impossible decisions—whether to stop eating to buy prescriptions or to sell their homes to pay taxes. But where are they to move?"

Complaining that although Daly City citizens got 700 signatures within a few days on petitions protesting the passage of Assembly Bills which removes the limit on school taxes, Castelan maintained that educators are now getting $15,000 to $20,000 a year.

"This country is not based on keeping senior citizens poor to pay these high taxes."

He added that residents who are getting $175 a month in social security payments are paying $600 to $700 annually in property taxes. He asserted that taxes have multiplied three or four times in the past few years.

"If you want these people to join the hippie crowd or the Black movement, we will do it and come here every meeting," Castelan warned. "And the average here is not 65. It is 75."

Robert B. St. Clair, chairman of the county board, said while he realized that during the period of inflation, people on fixed incomes have suffered, the area of taxation has been pre-empted by the state.

"If you would like to aid us to suggest legislation, we'll go and help you," St. Clair promised.

"We moved to Daly City in 1926, and we tried to save what we could so we would not become a public burden," Nadine Hamilton asserted. But, she said, her tax bill of $147 in 1957 had risen to $518 in 1968.

"Something has to be done," St. Clair agreed.

Posting of Signs By Realtors Recommended

An ordinance that would require all real estate brokers and all apartment house managers to post a sign in their offices and apartments proclaiming "in bold letters that discrimination in housing is illegal" was asked by the county's Human Relations Commission Thursday.

If the commission's recommendation is accepted by the board of supervisors the failure to post the sign could result in jail sentences or fines. The signs would give telephone numbers where complaints could be made.

The proposal, Stuart Leeb, chairman of the commission's housing subcommittee, reported originally came from Mrs. Elaine Eisenberg of the League of Women Voters.

Leeb said Realtors should be required to post the signs so "when you go to purchase a home or rent an apartment you can see them."

The commission will ask supervisors to direct the district attorney's office to draft the ordinance.

The commission agreed last night to investigate two cases of alleged discrimination, both in the Daly City area.

One was the result of a letter from Leonard H. Carter, regional director of the NAACP, in which he said he had received a complaint from Robert E. Williams regarding "the Ed Norris Volkswagen dealership at 6918 Mission Street, Daly City.

"The letter," James Forrest, executive director of the commission, reported, "not only suggested very poor service, but also alleged discrimination."

The second complaint came from Stephen M. Reese, and "alleged discrimination in housing at 699 Villa Avenue, Daly City," Forrest reported.

Commissioners were also asked to investigate discrimination against women by the county civil service system by Dr. Nancy Jewell Cross of Menlo Park.

D.C. Fireman Loses a Day In Dispute

The Daly City Personnel Board Thursday reduced the suspension of Fireman Robert Barbara from three days to one day, but found him "discourteous in his treatment of other employes."

The board, headed by Melford Battye, charged Barbara with misconduct and failure to observe the rules and regulations of the fire department and classified service.

The charges stem from an incident that occured in the Barbara home some three months ago when Barbara allegedly got into a verbal dispute with Fire Chief Herbert Ritzman and Assistant Chief Keith Schrock.

Chief Ritzman suspended Barbara for insubordination for three days—from June 18 to June 20—and Barbara appealed the matter to the Personnel Board.

Attorney for the accused, Richard Herndon, claimed the dispute took place in Barbara's home and the rules did not apply when an employe was off-duty (Barbara was on sick leave) and especially in his home.

DC Merchants Retreat On Park Meters

After a careful study of the parking meter situation on Mission Street, the Mission Merchants' Association partly retreated from its earlier stand to install additional meters down both sides of the 6800-6900 block of the shopping street.

In a brief meeting with Daly City Mgr. Dave Rowe, September 15, Tom Stanghallini, president of the Mission Merchants' Association, and parking meter opponent Bill Lagomarsino, it was agreed that meters be installed only on the east side of the street between Eastlake Avenue to and including the Mission Bell Motel.

Meters will likewise be installed in front of the War Memorial Building on Mission, it was announced.

Previous, the Merchants' Association had pushed for meters down both sides of the street, but opposition from some property owners and businessmen in the concerned area convinced Stanghellini another study was needed.

Rowe has asked the council to repeal an earlier resolution adopted on July 28, 1969, which paved the way for the additional meters, and adopt an amende resolution that will permit the revised plans.

Broadmoor-Colma Residents Confront LAFCO

With some 40 badge-wearing, placard-waving residents looking on, the County Local Agency Formation Commission Wednesday approved withdrawal of a petition seeking annexation of Broadmoor and unincorporated Colma to the city of Daly City.

The commission's action culminated nearly an hour of discussion after opponents to the annexation picketed in front of the Hall of Justice in Redwood City, wearing badges which proclaimed, "LAFCO Unfair to Unincorporated Colma - Broadmoor," and carrying signs of the same tenor.

Pickets gathered in the supervisors' chambers, apparently to assure that the commission would follow the recommendation of its executive officer, Sherman Coffman, that proponents of the annexation be allowed to withdraw the petition.

Coffman based his recommendation on the request of Carl E. Copley, a pro-annexation leader, who said in a letter to the commission that the petition was being withdrawn "because certain factors have changed regarding the Broadmoor community since we submitted our application . . ."

(The commission also approved withdrawal of the petition for proposed annexation of the Lake Merced Country Club to Daly City, a request made in a letter by the club's president, C. R. Greenston Sr., who said, "Circumstances which led to filing . . . the proposal for annexation have since changed significantly."

(Coffman's report and recommendation indicates that the significant change in circumstances is that the club's taxes would increase by nearly $8,000 if it annexed to the city.)

The denial by the commission last June of a proposed incorporation proposal for the Broadmoor area and yesterday's withdrawal of the annexation leaves the area, in the words of Al Ickler, president of the Broadmoor Property Owners Association, "right back where we started."

Ickler and other incorporation proponents urged the commission to reconsider its June decision and "Let us have an election to decide incorporation."

Maurice Hamilton, chairman of the commission, said it is not as easy as that, noting that cities are the creation of the state.

"We're charged to determine if all necessary factors exist for incorporation," he stated, "not whether or not we should let the people vote."

Ickler contended that his group has "submitted the facts that we can support ourselves."

He contended that residents of the Broadmoor area have been left in the position of declining land value, so that someday "we'll have to annex."

Hamilton noted that there is a statutory limitation of one year after an incorporation petition is denied before the proposal can again be considered by LAFCO, unless the commission agrees to waive the limitation.

At the conclusion of the meeting he invited the incorporation proponents to follow the process of filling another application and request a waiver of the statutory limitation.

Ickler indicated that a new petition will be shortly forthcoming.

Another speaker, Mrs. Roy Marlow, asked the commission to have the "courtesy to review the figures (supporting incorporation) before you make a decision."

Coffman admitted that at the incorporation hearing in June he had the latest report, but did not read it to the commission. Commission members also have copies of the report.

One woman expressed concern that unless incorporation is permitted, Daly City will take in the unincorporated area "parcel by parcel, as they have for the past five years."

Hamilton refuted this, stating Daly City has annexed none of the Broadmoor area since formation of LAFCO in 1963.

S.S.F. Claim Is Dropped

A claim for damages against the city of South San Francisco has been dropped by the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company.

Louis Goss, director of public works, informed the councilmen the claim has been satisfied by the phone company's insurance company.

It was back on July 15 that the phone company's underground facilities were struck and damaged by a backhoe owned by Lowrie Paving Company. The incident happened on Westborough Boulevard and Galway Place.

Hope Church Aids Vietnam Orphanage

This past summer, the children of Hope Lutheran Sunday school, Daly City, studied mission work here and abroad, and one result of the study was a "Friendship Train."

The "train" was filled with items such as clothing, medicines, condensed milk, candy and toys which will be sent to an orphanage in Vietnam.

The children were encouraged to take items each week and many responded generously, instructors said.

Now the children and teachers are looking forward to another term, beginning with Rally Day September 28 when, traditionally, a feeling of "gathering in" and a renewing of their spiritual lives are stressed.

Friends and parents of the children are encouraged to attend the service on rally day, at 9:45 a.m., which is also "promotion Sunday."

On October 5, from 1 to 5 p.m., the annual Sunday school and church picnic will be held at Orange Memorial Park in South San Francisco.

Games with prizes for all ages, a potluck lunch, free ice cream, coffee and Kool-Aid will be featured.

Broadmoor Sunday Rites Schedule Set

The Sunday schedule of two worship services and Sunday schools at 9:30 and 11 a.m. resume this Sunday at the Broadmoor Presbyterian Church, 377 Eighty-seventh Street, Daly City.

This Sunday's worship theme will be upon Christian education and the communication of the Word of God. There will be a dedication to the tasks of Christian education.

Pupils will be registered for one of the two school sessions either at 9:30 or 11. There will be classes for all ages beginning at three years of age and continuing through high school. The high school class is at 9:30 only and is taught by Bill Rae.

The 9:30 junior high is taught by Greg Lum with that at 11 by Bob Greeno. Teachers have been secured for all the departments. These include nursery, kindergarten, primary, junior, junior high and high school.

Department superintendents are Mrs. Marcia McGuirk, Mrs. Joan Anderson and Tom House. The general superintendent is Jack Sheets with Mrs. Marjie McBride the assistant superintendent.

Parents are urged to enter their children for the year's program in Christian education, which includes Bible study and the development of the Christian church.

The Rev. Herbert Tweedie is the pastor with the Rev. Aaron Garnet Miller the minister assistant.

Sentencing For 'Angels' Delayed

Scheduled sentencing of two former Pacifica Hell's Angels convicted of several counts involving kidnaping and attempted murder, was continued Wednesday until October 2 after defense attorneys contended they had new evidence in support of their clients.

Superior Judge Frank W. Rose gave attorneys Gordon Rockhill and Gerald Schneier five days in which to file affidavits in support of the motion for a new trial for Robert Thomas Poulin, 22, of Daly City, and John A. Giovacchini, 30, of San Francisco. Deputy District Attorney Robert Bishop then has five days in which to file an answer.

Poulin and Giovacchini were convicted August 19 by a Superior Court jury of kidnapping, attempted murder, felonious assault and conspiracy against Charles Craner, 23, a year ago because he allegedly failed to pay them funds he was to have received from passing stolen checks.

The defense attorneys said in court yesterday that a chance placing of another county jail inmate in a cell with the defendants turned up the information that the other inmate, Lowell D. Huddleston, 23, of San Francisco, had been present when part of the alleged actions against Craner occurred, although he was not a participant.

Huddleston pleaded guilty to a drug charge in another case Monday in Superior Court and is awaiting sentencing.

According to the defense attorneys, Huddleston was talking with their clients in jail when the matter of the Craner case came up and he related that on the basis of what he knew he would be willing to testify on behalf of Giovacchini and Poulin.

The defendants told their attorneys, who obtained an affidavit from Huddleston and entered the motion for a new trial.

Judge Rose continued the matter until October 2 at 4 p.m. for arguing of the motion and submission of the probation report.

FASHION SHOW

The mothers' club of Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church, Daly City, will hold a fashion show at 12:30 p.m. on November 1 at Brentwood Lodge is South San Francisco. Proceeds from the affair will be used to defray costs of the fashion show.

SSF Custody Case

Battle Over Four Orphans

The battle for guardianship of four orphaned South San Francisco children began Friday in the courtroom of Superior Judge James T. O'Keefe and continued there Monday.

Seeking custody of the children are their white grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Rygiewicz, of Milwaukee, Wis., and their black uncle, Staff Sgt. Benjamin Gaines, stationed with the Air Force at Langley Air Force Base, Va.

The youngsters, Christian Gaines, 6; twins, Michael and Laurance, 5, and their sister, Lynda, 4, were orphaned July 20 when their white mother, Mrs. Marcia Gaines, 31, a registered nurse, died in a South San Francisco automobile mishap. Their black father, Laurance, died in 1965, of an accidental drug overdose.

The grandparents, want to take the youngsters back to their home at Milwaukee, and Gaines, father of two children himself, wants them to join his family.

Gaines, 36, an 18-year veteran of the Air Force, testified that he is seeking a transfer to the Bay Area at Hamilton Air Force Base and is "enthused" about the prospect of acquiring four more children. He foresees no problem of his late brother's children adjusting to his family or to the Air Force life.

Rygiewicz, 55, a Milwaukee millwright, admitted in court that he suffered a heart attack in October of 1967, but is now "ship shape and ready to go." He and his wife, Leona, 54, said they would see that the children would have the "best education possible," and would have the youngsters attended the Episcopal church, which the children's late parents attended, although Rygiewicz is a Roman Catholic and his wife, now a a Catholic, was formerly a Lutheran.

Attorneys John McInerney, representing Gaines, and Don E. Bailey, representing the grandparents, were intensive in their questioning and cross-examination of witnesses yesterday.

The four children, who appear light in skin color, were not in court for the proceedings, but did talk with Judge O'Keefe briefly before start of the afternoon proceedings yesterday.

Mrs. Rygiewicz testified that there was "no reason" that the children would not be accepted in the Milwaukee neighborhood where they reside. She noted that the children had visited there with their mother on occasion, the last time two years ago.

Gaines said in court that he intends to move to the Bay Area upon retirement from the Air Force after 20 years service.

None of the witnesses appearing yesterday could state whether or not Mr. or Mrs. Gaines had ever expressed a preference as to who should have custody of the children in the event of their demise.

Mrs. Constance Jones, a retired Negro public health nurse, testified that she had held a reception at her house when the Gaines were married and that Mrs. Gaines had been a frequent caller at her home following the death of Gaines.

She stated that Mrs. Gaines had told her that her parents had offered to enlarge their home in Milwaukee to accommodate Mrs. Gaines and the children, but that Mrs. Gaines had said that she "would not live in Milwaukee again, an wouldn't want my children to."

Mrs. Jones further stated that Gaines had told her before his death that he would be "uncomfortable" in going to Milwaukee because he never felt welcome.

A nursing friend of Mrs. Gaines, Mrs. Pat Walker, San Francisco, a white woman who said she is seperated from her Negro husband, testified that she had observed a "good relationship" between the Gaines children and their grandparents since the latter arrived in South San Francisco.

Two Stabbed In Bar Fight

Two young Peninsula men were stabbed and slashed several times during a bar fight Friday night in San Mateo.

Police reported that Arthur Hein, 21, 136 Santa Rosa, Pacifica, and G. T. Pawson, 23, 1109 Dix, San Mateo, were apparently knifed during a fight with Teodore N. Herrera, 28, 1980 Shoreview, San Mateo, about midnight at the Shor-Vu Club.

Herrera and his wife, Elisa, 27, were both arrested later this morning for assault with a deadly weapon. Mrs. Herrera allegedly came to the aid of her husband, who was being struck by several persons at the bar.

Just One Floor, But . . .

2 Groups Seek It at Same Time

No one claims to be against the other person, group or activity. It's just that the two parties involved both want to use one stage and one hardwood floor—at the same time.

Thus remains the conflict between South San Francisco square dance groups and the city's culture and arts theater group.

Councilmen met in a joint session Wednesday with four recreation commissioners to hear both sides of the controversy. After much talking and listening, the councilmen referred the matter to the recreation commission. They were instructed to prepare a recommendation to the council that would be satisfactory to both parties.

The controversy began at the September 2 city council meeting when a representative of the square dancers, Vernon Bronco, 461 Gardenside Avenue, told the councilmen his group was being evicted from Siebecker Recreation Center. Bronco cited a letter to this effect, signed by Robert Maxey, Superintendent of Recreation and Parks.

Maxey was on vacation at the time. But last night he had the opportunity to present his side of the story.

According to Maxey, the square dance groups had been advised that they must meet a 50 per cent residency requirement for members of their groups.

He said the square dancers were informed at an August 27 meeting that use of Siebecker Recreation Center would be discontinued; that he was going to submit his recommendation to the Recreation Commission and that "the recreation commission received it cold."

Recreation Commissioner George Coulter said he could not understand why the special meeting was called at all. "The Recreation Commission is well aware of what is going on," he said. "We will definitely come up with a recommendation." Mayor Frank Bertucelli pointed out that the letter signed by Maxey stated that the group was to cease use of the recreation center on September 17. "I don't believe this commission indicated in any way that any action would be taken before September 25 on this matter," retorted Coulter.

Bronco, whose fear of being railroaded out of the premises his group has occupied for more than 10 years, reiterated much of what he stated at the September 2 meeting. He said he realized the members of the commission were in "the middle" of the controversy. "We are only looking for equal treatment," he said.

Referring to Maxey's letter of August 22, Bronco said "There is nothing in it about residency, only that we can no longer use the facilities, period. That matter wasn't discussed at the meeting (of August 27)," said Bronco. "Maxey just said 'this is what shall be done.' That night he said 60 per cent residency. Tonight it's 50 per cent.

"I asked him, 'what if we got 100 per cent residency?' and he said we still couldn't stay in Siebecker." Bronco brushed aside the residency requirement, saying it was meaningless in that he could bolster residency with a little "gerrymandering."

Maxey told the councilmen and commissioners that by the nature of the dramatic group, they must practice regularly and therefore need more nights at the center.

"It is desireable to be allowed more nights if we are to gain a co-operative arrangement with Skyline College," said Maxey. "The facility would be used two nights a week for an adult education dramatics class for credits on the college level."

"We don't want to eliminate square dancing," said Maxey, "but they should be willing to adjust to a little modification." Maxey said that if the square dancers would be willing to realign into two "local" groups, the Recreation and Parks Commission would be happy to co-sponsor them.

Routine Car Check Ends Long Search

Almost a year ago Alberto A. Bustamanti of San Francisco walked off the U.S. Marine Base at Camp Pendleton in southern California and disappeared.

City police, Military Police and even Federal Bureau of Investigation agents failed to find the AWOL marine.

The search continued and, after 30 days, the marine was charged with being a deserter. But they still couldn't find him.

But, last Tuesday Daly City policeman Steven Steen was on routine patrol when he spotted a sports car violating a traffic regulation on South Mayfair Avenue. He pursued the vehicle and pulled it over shortly before 2:30 p.m.

The name the occupant gave Steen did not check out, nor did the registration for the flashy car.

Officer Steen was informed via his patrol car radio that the car was "hot" out of San Carlos where it had been stolen from the Premier Motors company used car lot earlier that day.

The suspect was arrested and brought to city jail where he was further processed.

A quick check of fingerprints by the FBI uncovered the suspect's real name — Alberto A. Bustamanti.

Bustamanti was scheduled to be arraigned on the car theft charges on Thursday

Security At S.F. Jail Demanded

Members of the county's Human Relations Commission on Friday demanded immediate action to assure additional security measures are taken at San Francisco's county jail west of San Bruno.

Commissioner Jose Puentes of San Bruno suggested that a meeting be arranged with the San Francisco Human Rights Commission, but Frank Spadarella, commission chairman, added, "We s h o u l d n 't stop there."

Citing the murder of a retired Pacifica sea captain by two escapees from the jail, Spaderella said Mayor Joseph Alioto, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors and the Human Rights Commission should make an immediate investigation "to see that proper security measures are taken."

Commissioners a g r e e d to write Alioto and the two boards.

Gary Hamilton, recently appointed human relations specialist for the county, reported that one of the pressing problems facing San Mateo County is the overcrowded condition of the county jail in Redwood City.

Jefferson High Pay Boosts

Trustees of the Jefferson High School District have approved teacher salary increases averaging slightly under eight per cent.

Other employes, including administrators, also are to receive pay hikes—about 6.6 per cent for "classified" workers anf five per cent for cafeteria personnel.

The district's superintendent, Edward D. Morgan, was included among the recipients of salary gains. He'll now be getting $29,500, up slightly below five per cent.

His administrative staff got increases, too.

Dr. Floyd Gonola, whose title was changed from director of educational services to assistant superintendent for the same thing; Glenn South, business; Dr. Haolr Tonini, personnel; Ernest Ribera, curriculum and instruction, were placed in a six-step schedule, ranging from $22,506 to $24,506, as 12-month employes.

Principals, also hired on a 12-month basis, will get from $20,632-$22,632, vice principals (12 months), $17,460-$19,460; assistant principals (11 months) $15,838-$17,838; psychologists (200 days), $13,857-$15,857.

The new range for fully credentialled, but inexperienced teachers will be $8,045, in contrast to this year's $7,690.

However, the top teacher range has jumped from $13,375 to $14,415 (that range is attainable when the teacher has 75 units in addition to an AB degree).

Superintendent Morgan said word received from the California Teachers Assco Association financial consultants has tentatively indicated the district's overall pay standing among 90 Bay Area districts would be no lower than fourth, and possibly a higher ranking might be the result of this week's package approval.

UBAC Drive Aide Named

Larry Ross, assistant city manager at South San Francisco, has been named municipal employe chairman of that city's United Bay Area Crusade drive.

Bad Check Publicity Plan Told By S. Bruno Chamber

Persons passing bad checks to San Bruno Chamber of Commerce member merchants will have the undesireable distinction of having their name placed on a "Merchants Cooperative Bulletin."

Christopher Menkin, chamber manager, said the chamber will publish a list of persons who have passed checks knowingly with insufficient funds, and individuals who have over-extended their crdeit. The list will be published in alphabetical order and mailed the first week of the month to chamber members only .

The bulletin, requested by several merchants, is a coooperative venture for protection against bad check artists, said Menkin.

In a letter to chamber members , Menkin said, "The bulletin should inform you of a person who has run out of crdeit at one store and is attempfing to build up credit at your store.

"The bulleitn also will provide you with names and addresses of those individuals who have in the past tendered checks in small amounts which have proved difficult to collect."

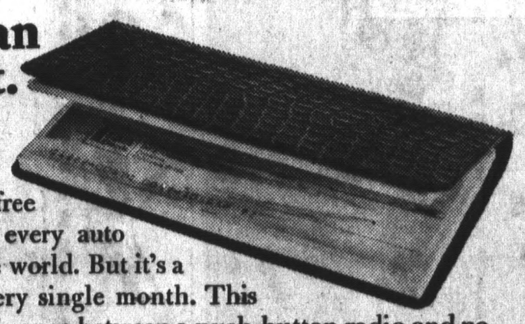
Our car loans come with an optional extra that's free.



You can bank on it.

Save between $48 and $72 on your next car. A free checking account with every auto loan is not the end of the world. But it's a savings of up to $2, every single month. This savings could be the difference between a push-button radio and no sound at all. Or enough gas to take you to the East coast on your next vacation. Maybe even the last payment on your loan.

Save even more on low interest. If you're ready to buy a new car, come to First Western Bank, first. Car loans from other places may cost you more. They may allow a healthy chunk of your money to go to a middleman. In the end, you might be paying more for your car. Or getting less car than you're paying for.

Earn more money on the money you save. If you're really interested in being prudent, open a bank-safe savings account with us. Then compound the money you save on your auto loan. What this all amounts to is simply this: When it comes to money management, we want to help our customers. After all, they've helped us to become a $900 million bank.

TERRA NOVA TOPICS . . .

By Alice Reichert

AS IT ALWAYS has been, and as it seems eternally to be, September means back to school. The day before the first day of school, may be promising a new and different school year, always changes to the first day of school, and the hope for change dissolves, as each year seems to remain essentially the same as the last.

AT TERRA NOVA this year, we find the same mini-freshmen, relieved sophomores, juniors with the upper classmen bug, and seniors with the age-old "last year" excitemen (who take immense joy in circling the last number of four on the annual emergency and reference cards). Some teachers deliver their opening day lecture about the strict control of class conduct, only to eventually return to the careless personalities of last year's classes. They shake up the freshmen reminding them that they are out of the little school and expected to act like young adults. But the kids catch on fast, to learn that high school is only a midpoint between the chaos of eighth grade and the strict, proper behavior suggested in the constant lectures. Midclassmen are reminded that they still have time to straighten up the grade. No one bothers to try and tell the usually thick-headed seniors anything.

THIS REPORTER hasn't found all the changes yet, but it seems there's little out of what we consider ordinary, at least for the last three years.

Anyone can find Terra Nova now. We finally did get that identification sign so long needed. It says, Terra Nova High School. That's all.

THE ADVANCED JOURNALISM class has another new room. Sharing the typing and general business room, there is no longer the constant need for more typewriters. This year's staff: co-editors-in-chief, Joanne Gribble and this writer-news editor, Anne Dryden; assistant news editor, Janet Ryan; feature editor, Raquel (Rocky) Montenegro; assistant feature editor, Janet Ryan; sports co-editors, Bob Kennedy and Paul Baxter; photographers, Larry Elkin and Mike Cristofani; artist, Theresa Jackson. And Le Pacini is advisor this year — as always.

Kentfield Setting For Convention Of Catholic PTG

The twenty-second convention of the Catholic Parent-Teacher Groups will take place on Friday at Marin Catholic High School, 675 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Kentfield.

Mothers from 104 units will start the day with registration at 8:45 a.m. followed by a Concelebrated Mass at 9:30 a.m.

The delegates, representing San Mateo, Santa Clara, Marin and San Francisco counties, will be greeted by Mrs. Frank Della Maggiore, archdiocesan president.

Starting at 1:30 p.m. four discussion groups led by each of the panelists will be hosted by the four county presidents, including Mrs. Gerald Wagstaffe of San Mateo.

THE THOMAS CALDAROLA residence, recent gathering place for the Mary's Help Hospital Guild members above, will be one of the homes toured during the fall house tour, "Le Maisons Magnifiques." Discussing the October 15 tour with Mrs. Caldarola and admiring the Caldarola family Bible are Mrs. Ben Cardinalli and Mrs. Reinaldo Pagano. Mrs. Victor Dowdle, 175 Riverton Avenue, San Francisco, has tickets.

Youth for Service Talk

Westmoor High's recently formed minorities class, instructed by Alvin Wolf, had two representatives from the Youth for Service come and discuss with the class the purpose and aims of the San Francisco based program.

Youth For Service helps to get the young and old started. Some may be high school dropouts who are looking for a job or education. Others may have served time in prison and can't be hired or have trouble adjusting to life on the outside. These people are helped by YFS's three programs: Neighborhood Youth Corps, Street Workers and The Adult Training Program, all of which are mainly supported on a private donations basis.

George Navis and Ernest Mitchell discussed with the class about how community involvement is important in a job such as theirs.

ARLENE PLEICH, newly installed president of the Colma Intermediate and K-6 Schools, confers with Intermediate Principal Joel Franz and K-6 Principal Harry Aronson as she makes plans for new term activities. (Post Photo)

San Jose will be the first home of Mr. and Mrs. Loren A. N. Buddress (Diana Lee Zahnd) who were married at the Community Methodist Church in San Bruno. Diana is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Zahnd of San Bruno, and Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Buddress of San Bruno are the parents of the benedict. They honeymooned on a trip down the California coast.

The brief business session will include election and installation of officers for 1969-70, according to retiring president Dr. Robert O. Holmes of Hillsborough.

A program with a light show motif will focus attention on the past year's branch accomplishments in such fields as public education, fund raising, service to cancer patients, cancer checkup clinics and new unit development.

Awards of recognition to individual volunteers will be presented by Carl F. Roepke Jr., master of ceremonies.

An informal reception is scheduled for an hour preceeding the 7:15 p.m. dinner. Reservations, open to all ACS volunteers and board members, may be made by calling or writing the county branch office, 1517 South B Street, San Mateo.

Patricia Gilbrech Is Wed

White and lavender gladioli banked the altar of St. Robert's Catholic Church in San Bruno on Saturday for the wedding of Patricia Marie Gilbrech and Robert Leonard Hamliton.

Patricia, escorted to the altar by her father, was preceded down the aisle by her sister, Virginia Ann Gilbrech, as maid of honor. She wore an Empire gown with a plum velvet bodice and orchid satin skirt. A small veil fell from a fresh flower headband of miniature purple carnations and lavender roses. The same flowers were repeated in her bouquet.

Similarly gowned bridesmaids were Laura Foglesong, Mary Ann Cerri and Barbara Lynn Hamilton, sister of the benedict. Mary Beth Cadei was the flower girl in a matching frock, and Michael Cadei carried the rings.

The ceremony was conducted by the Rev. Richard Fry, and the South San Francisco Elks Club was set with the same flowers for the reception. The party was hosted by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Joseph Gilbrech Sr. of San Bruno. Mr. and Mrs. Leonard L. Hamilton, Robert's parents, traveled from Chicago Heights, Ill., for the ceremony.

The bridal gown was an A-line, Empire design of white peau de soie with a chapel train, standup collar, leg o'mutton sleeves and Venetian lace appliques. A white velvet Dior bow caught her English silk illusion veil, and she carried a colonial bouquet of lilies of the valley, stephanotis and white roses.

For traveling, she chose a light pink linen coat and dress with silver accessories.

Gordon Hamilton stood with his brother as best man, and ushering duties fell to William Gilbrech, brother of the bride, Joe Licina, David Maiero and Dan English.

Mrs. Gilbrech took her place in the family pew in a pomegranate coat and dress ensemble of saki cloth with a whimsy hat of the same material. Mrs. Hamilton witnessed her son's wedding in a light pink dress and coat with a jeweled collar and matching pillbox. Both mothers pinned on roses.

The newlyweds will live in Mineral Wells, Tex.

Choraliers Elect Staff In South S.F.

The newly formed Community Choraliers, sponsored by the South San Francisco Recreation and Park Department, elected officers last week at the Thursday rehearsal.

In addition, they presented their director, Patti Parks, with a directing stand, useful for rehearsals and public performances. Turning over the gavel to the new president was Roy Marlow, who has been chorus president for three years.

Succeeding Roy for the coming year is Jim Palmer, who has sung in choruses with Miss Parks for the past eight years. Serving with Jim will be: Vice President Helen Cain, Secretary Diane Brahney, Treasurer Teresa Doupe, Librarian Donna Sanchez, assisted by Francis Garcia, and telephone chairmen Claire D'Amico and Pat Enslen.

The first meeting, held Monday night, mapped plans for the first community concert to be given by the group, slated for October 3, at the West Orange Library auditorium. Several concert dates for the coming holiday season were discussed and accepted by the officers.

Membership in the chorus is still open to local residents, by calling either the South San Francisco Recreation and Park Department or by attending a rehearsal and arranging for an audition with the director.

Chorus meets every Thursday in the Hillside Recreation Center, South San Francisco, from 8-10 p.m.

The chorus is available to sing for clubs, banquets, organizations or special programs if requested sufficiently in advance.

The Choraliers, will present its first local concert on Friday evening, October 3, in the auditorium of the West Orange Avenue Library.

Empty Register For Would-Be-Robbers

A couple of baddies were caught in the act of heisting a cash register out of the back room of Yolanda's Terminal Cafe, a few days ago. "When Tex, one of our night bartenders, walked in on the would-be robbers," explained General Manager Chuck Winstead with a chuckle, "they were so taken by surprise that they dropped the heavy register with a bang. With that, the register flew open and revealed a very empty cash drawer.' . . . Kay "Wiggles" Nolan, petite hostess at Bruno's in San Francisco's Mission, just returned from her vacation. While away, Wiggles donned a chef's hat, completely took over in a hotel kitchen and whipped up a batch of Bruno's Special to the delight of the hotel's guests . . . The Greek Taverna in North Beach continues to present The Trio Orfeo and assorted dancing girls, thus making this Grecian night spot one of the liveliest on Columbus Avenue . . . An unusual introduction to the gourmet coffees of the world awaits your selection when visiting The Cathedral Espresso Cafe in Burlingame. Not only will you be pampering your palate, but you will be in awe over its unusual atmosphere. You really must see Jack Menzie and Chris Vlassis' re-creation of a Medieval monastery to appreciate it. It's beautiful!

Chuck Winstead

NEW RESTAURANT OWNERS — .K K. and Eva Leung, hosts of the Wah Yen Chinese restaurant on San Mateo Drive, urge you to try their Mandarin and Cantonese-style cooking, as well as American dishes.

☆ ☆ ☆

Located high above the cliffs of Coyote Point and set in among giant trees, The Castaway restaurant offers its guests a panoramic view of the Bay and San Francisco skyline while dining on Castaway Specials, such as Barbecued Baby Spareribs and Polynesian Delight, or Crab Legs Kahmaeamaea and Lobster Tail Tempura from the list of many sea dishes. General Manager Jim Pias has given careful attention to his selection of wines to be sure of their superior quality. Exotic drinks of rum and fresh fruit mixtures add adventure to dining here . . . People keep telling us how absolutely delightful it is to dine at House of Troy in San Carlos. It's a combination of pleasant atmosphere, friendly service and really outstanding dinners for the price. In other words, Sal's House of Troy brims over with "heart." . . . Richard Skaff is one of the friendly faces waiting to greet you at The Franciscan, located at Fisherman's Wharf directly next to Pier 43½ . . . Gino Lipski of L'Auberge in Atherton is one of the Peninsula's favorite waiters. Let him suggest dinner, which might include Lime Stone Lettuce Salad, Calf Sweetbreads saute Forrestiere in Casserole and Mousse au Chocolat . . . Frank Day at the organ has become as much a part of Mr. G's Steak House in Daly City as the house specialty of steaks. Popular with the young set as well as the young at heart.

Jim Pias

Harold Varni reports from Sil Oliva's Exposition Fish Grotto at Fisherman's Wharf that business this past summer has hit an all-time high. "From far and near," says Harold, "the tourists have been flocking in to try out fish specialties. It's surprising how many out-of-staters know about Chef Art Davis and all the awards he has won this past year." . . . Note the new menu at Foster's Coffee Shop. One of the most popular "bets" of the race players who gather here for handicap sessions is "Two Eggs (any style) with French fried potatoes, jam or marmalade for just 95 cents" . . . Margie Brandon, charming pianobar specialist at Baron's Lounge on Powell Street, never uses sheet music. She feels that when a musician props music up in front, it is "extremely" unprofessional . . . Awaiting news daily on the opening date of Nick Gust's new Papagayo Room, located on the shores of Pacifica just off Highway One. Nick and Al Williams (he will be at the hosting helm here) have kept construction going at top speed. There's a very good chance that the restaurant, which will feature an array of Mexican dishes served by cute senoritas dressed in colorful Mexican costumes, and an exciting decor including caged parrots, parakeets, cockatoos and lovebirds, will be ready for a mid-October opening.

Bertolucci's Favorite Restaurant Since 1928

A tradition of fine Continental cuisine handed down from father to son has been the experience at Bertolucci's world famous restaurant in South San Francisco. Larry Bertolucci and his sister, Lola Bogdan, carry on a tradition that has made Bertolucci's a favorite of out-of-town visitors since 1928. Only the finest in quality ingredients go into the family recipes . . . Fall fun is a specialty at South Lake Tahoe, and Park Avenue Tours has the "key" to all transportation. If you're driving up, be the recipient of a $10 refund value. There is also a bonus refund for the overnight Greyhound one nighters, and two nighters. Park Avenue Tours' daily Greyhound buses, called "Turnarounds," also offer bonuses up to $6. All this, plus three "bonus bundle" plane flight packages, is good reason why Park Avenue Tours leads in the field of travel . . . There is always something going on at Fred and Jerry Rapp's Holiday Inn, South San Francisco — from breakfast parties to dinner gatherings. Last week, the Sera-Mark Data Service held a special luncheon meeting in the Alta Marine Room, just one of several banquet rooms at the inn.

Warrior basketball star Jeff Mullin, enjoying a steak dinner at Lew Lehr's in San Francisco, was quizzed by Lew about his being in San Francisco while serving reserve duty at Fort Ord. Said Jeff, "When I want to enjoy a really good steak it doesn't matter how long my dinner hour is." . . . Mary Lou Francis has taken her somewhat esoteric hobby, collecting antiques, and made it an integral part of Scotty Campbell's restaurant decor. As you enter through the front door you are immediately confronted by Tiffany lamps, an 1867 Grandfather clock, and rows of bottles from the previous century (some still containing their original liquids). Just ask Mary Lou for a cook's tour of her antique collection after partaking of one of chef Salvador Sandavol's specialties . . . Whether you choose from a selective list of aperitifs or wine cocktails, DarDanys in Menlo Park specializes in connoisseur imported and domestic wines to complement any meal. Serving both luncheon and dinner. Friday's luncheon special is Tuna Tettrizini (includes soup or salad) . . . For day-in and day-out banquet reservations, you'll have to travel far and wide to top the long list of satisfied party givers at the Villa Chartier and Lanai. This restaurant combo has been "Best for Banquets" on the Peninsula for many successful years.

New Engineer For Daly City

A NEW CITY ENGINEER for Daly City may be appointed by the time you read this.

NO ONE AROUND — Daly City (indeed, the entire North County) seems to be missing most of its officials. They're either playing golf in the Pledger Invitational or Toto's golf battle at Tahoe. Things should return to normal by the end of the week, hopefully.

COUNTY SUPERVISORS are considering nominating the Regional Planning Commission for a newly established award to be given to those agencies that have contributed the most towards betterment of the Bay Area environment. Let's face it, the RPC has been doing a bangup job on everything from Parks to Pollution. Nine counties are involved in the awards.

APPARENTLY BARTD is so unimportant to Daly City that Chamber of Commerce prez Elio Fontana wanted to allot mayor Bernard (Bud) Lycett only 15 minutes to discuss the matter at an upcoming meeting. The remainder of the luncheon would be devoted to a presentation by county supervisor (Mrs.) Jean Fassler. The mayor begged off, explaining a person couldn't begin to talk about BARTD in 15 minutes. How true, How true!

TWO DOWN, HOW MANY TO GO? — Two women have already been slaughtered (and we mean slaughtered) on Skyline Boulevard near the Westmoor Avenue crossing this year. How many more before SOMETHING is done —like an overhead crossing. Sure, they have lights at the crossing. But try to see them in a pea soup fog. The last victim was barely identifiable. Her killer is still at large. The State hopes to build a wonderful freeway with wonderful landscaping along that same route — someday. Perhaps they could dedicate it as a memorial to the pedestrians killed in the area???

BUSINESS IS BOOMING DEPT. — Rumors are out that Jim Donohue will take over the former Gateway Chevrolet garage on Mission and San Pedro. Also Chrysler Company will move into the vacated Rudolph Ford building on Mission. Doesn't that make you feel warm all over? It makes city officials warm all over, because they get more tax revenue from "used" buildings than they do from "non-used" buildings. Now doya get it?

CPA AL BELOTZ —One time head of the DCRC (that's Daly City Rotary Club folks) was bundled in and out of Franklin Hospital last week for an emergency checkup. Back at his desk fighting an intestinal virus.

WATCH FOR IT — Westlake's Gene Perry tells us that the famed Turk Murphy jazz band is alive and well in San Francisco and will be performing on the Shopping Center Mall with singer Pat Yankee on October 25th (and doesn't Pat have a good old American name?)

AND SPEAKING OF the Westlake Shopping Center, we learned that the Jett's Petting Zoo people claim an all-time attendance record during their stay at the center last week. Count me too! I was out chatting with a chimp myself.

'FESS UP FELLAS — How cum the San Bruno Chamber of Commerce, which pledges itself to boosting business in Bruno, has to meet and eat in a Millbrae restaurant???

FLASHY FLASH — Longtime (22 years) president of the Dairy Employees and Milk Drivers Union (Local 226) Edward J. Dennis will step down on January 1, 1970. Dennis, veteran Daly City city councilman, had a year to go on his recent re-election term. He will, however, enter the April 1970 council race.

THERE JUST MIGHT BE a few vacancies on the County Human Relations Commission if some members don't start showing up at meetings, according to Our Source. Should be interesting . . . . if it happens.

KUDOS DEPARTMENT — Well Done to the Daly City council on finally getting the ball rolling on that BARTD station. They "discussed" the matter for some months (years) with BARTD and won many concessions from that district for the city. Now let's hope BARTD picks up the ball and keeps going. And hope they don't run out of money before they get to Daly City. It should be an attractive addition to the city — at no cost to local citizens!

Divorce: You Lose Friends -- The Past, Too!

By JEREMY ROBINSON

Martin Faber, the stocky production manager for a chemical company leaned forward in his chair. "This is the one thing," he explained. "We're all out of practice at meeting people. This is the one thing you have to remember. You not only divorce your wife. You divorce your friends. You divorce your past."

The production manager, whose real name is not Martin Faber, was meeting with a discussion group of an organization called Parents Without Partners to set details on a series of five lectures to be offered by an offshoot program called S.O.S.

Parents Without Partners is a national service organization designed to help people who have children but are alone. Its small sister, SOS, is for people who are divorced, or contemplating a divorce.

Starting Wednesday, October 1, SOS will begin its lecture series on "Divorce—Is It Necessary" Rev. Gilbert Vieria, pastor of Aldersdate Methodist Church in South San Francisco, and president of the San Mateo County Mental Health Association, will speak. He will be followed in the succeeding five Wednesdays by a psychiatrist, a doctor, a family service agency director and a jurist. All the lectures at the Beresford School, 300 Twenty-eighth Street, in San Mateo, are free, although they will be followed by small discussion groups which will cost a nominal fee. The programs begin at 8 p.m.

At the house of a board member of PWP recently six divorcees and a widow discussed some of the problems facing people alone. The seven, all of whom lived in the county, included a salesman, an aircraft mechanic, a production manager, an accountant office manager, an administrative secretary, a registered nurse and a receptionist.

Faber led off the discussion by remarking on the high divorce rate in San Mateo County, which he put at around 60 per cent and said "As people become more affluent, and more troubled, they move to San Mateo County because they think that the mild climate can solve their troubles and their problems.

"What we're trying to do," he went on, "is to let some poor slob who's sitting home alone in a room know that he's not alone." Fager described the problems of a divorced man socially.

"You don't know how to think single anymore. You don't known how to talk to girls or women. You lose the security of the home life."

Also, there are legal problems, and psychological problems. "Whenever a divorce occurs, your ego is shot. PWP and SOS are a kind of crutch, a half-way house."

But Diane Lambert said, "We are not advertising ourselves. SOS is a community service and PWP is not what we're selling; we're a community service."

Frank Dana, an accountant office manager, talked more on divorce. "In divorce, there aren't any rules. There aren't any limits. I've heard cases where the husband's visiting rights are defined by day and hour."

"You want to know the most lonesome time of all?" Martin asked. "The most lonesome time of all is the Sunday afternoon after I had the kids, when I come home alone."

Larry Norris, an aircraft engineer, added, "When you're married all your aims are directed to this one goal. I notice that most people who come to PWP are looking for something, but they don't know what it is."

Late Again!

THERE'S nothing like putting off certain chores until the last minute . . . like Monday night for this column.

Somewhere, there must be some wise saying about the topic, "Procrastination". What the devil was it my shrink said . . . "He who waits for the Early Bird to strike first will have to wait long in line."

ANYWAY, the delay gave us plenty to think about on the way to the shop. It was dark, but it was clear and the lights of the North Peninsula were so bright, the visibility so good and they seemed to blend in with the lights of the South Peninsula.

Love the view from Junipero Serra Freeway under those conditions. So striking and unusual . . . The airport in multi-color, South City, San Bruno, Millbrae and points pretty and south . . . the fog sort of drooling in from the coastside, covering the ridges behind and west of Crystal Springs lake.

WE HAD THOUGHTS, too . . . of a few things on our mind, and other's minds . . . like the talk that last night's Jeff Elementary session was going to be on the warm side, and the fact that it's nearly "summertime" (sunshiny) in the North has nothing to do with it, huh? we were

(Read the Daily Times today and see if people were pulling our legs . . .)

WELL, no one can accuse the Laguna Salada School District of hiring too many teachers from controversial San Francisco State College. Out of the last 46 teachers hired only five came from S.F. State.

POSTSCRIPT — that new Serramonte High School is beautiful . . . that's the consensus . . . now let's hope it stays that way. We went over a couple or three times, and were amazed at how quiet the carpeted areas are . . . mebbe noisy (it's gotta be the NOISIEST) Westmoor could use some on the floors someday. Well, you know, just thinking. . .

Sneak Thief!

WHILE YOUNGSTER feeds one animal, another takes advantage of the diversion and steals a nibble of something good from the lad's pocket (or is it the pocket that's being gradually eaten away?) at the Westlake Shopping Center, where Jett's Petting Zoo was stationed late last week.

Readable Plays

"The Country Girl" was one of Grace Kelley's last movies. Starring with William Holden and Bing Crosby, she was part of a drama that gets inside of people and shows their minds and hearts working to surmount some of the problems of Twentieth Century living.

The action involves three people. A man who was once a star but now, because of some insecurity, is a drunk; a director who is convinced that the stars downfall can be laid to his wife and the star's wife who comes to a place where she must choose between loving the director or remaining the star's wife and last saving force.

As they wrestle with their problem these three are enveloped in deep motions. They plead with each other and at times denounce each other. Their speeches are full of threats and desperate conversations. Each in his own way examines himself and at times dislikes the answers he receives.

"The Country Girl" is one of 13 plays in an anthology edited by Stanley Clays of San Francisco State and David G. Spencer of Layola University. All 13 plays are among the masterpieces of drama. Most of them have become familiar through frequent productions on the stage and in the movies.

One of the plays is "Miss Julie," by August Strindberg. It was written by a man who sees an author as "a lay preacher peddling the ideas of his time in popular form ...."

In "Miss Julie" he attempts to show that in real life an action . . . is generally caused by a whole series of motives, more or less fundamental, and all contribute to the tragic fate that people experience.

The play has three characters, Miss Julie, the croquetish, yet unhappy daughter of a count, who unwittingly leads her own servant, Jean, into infidelity and dishonor. The third character is Kristin who is Jeans fiancee and Julie's cook. The play ends tragically for each with each choosing to face the consequence in a different manner.

Among the other plays are Arthur Miller's "A View From the Bridge," Tennessee William's "The Times World," Lillian Hellman's "The Autumn Garden," and George Bernard Shaw's "The Devil's Deciple."

The ancient favorite "Antigone," by Sophocles, is presented in translation by Robert Whitelaw and is an adaptation by Jean Cocteau. This ancient play ends with a speach that is as modern as today. Creon—"No other wish have I; that prayer is all chorus; Pray not at all; all is as fate appoints; Tis not in mortals to avert their doom."

The first play in the book is the "Wild Duck," by Henrik Ibsen. Others are "Uncle Vanya," by Anton Chekbov, "The House of Bernarda Alba," by F. G. Lorca; "Ondine," by Jean Giraudoux, "From the Summing Up," by W. Somerset Maugham and "Juno and the Paycock," by Sean O'Casey.

These plays are highly readable and should be read in our age of philosophical unrest and psychological chaos.

Intellectually Gifted Child

MUCH HAS BEEN WRITTEN about the intellectually handicapped child who eventually becomes a high school dropout, embittered about an educational process he never really understood or which never understood him. Numerous federal programs have been adopted over the years to provide special attention for his particular problems.

But what about the intellectually gifted child? It may surprise many persons to learn that 80,000 students with an IQ superior to the national norm leave school before graduation each year, not necessarily embittered but definitely bored by it all.

THERE IS NO AGENCY for the gifted within the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. Except for individual educators who recognize the scope of the problem and attempt to do something on their own, little official cognizance is made of the gifted dropout.

One study of Pennsylvania dropouts with IQs ranking in the upper 25 per cent, conducted by Dr. Joseph French of Pennsylvania State University, found the typical male to be "significantly more assertive, independent, self-assured, happy-go-lucky and talkative" than his classmates who stayed in school.

So little attention has been directed to this group it is not known what became of them after they left school. Perhaps because of their superior capabilities many were able to overcome their shortcomings in formal training.

BUT DON'T BET on it. The burden of an incompleted high school education today is a heavy one to carry into the business world. That many thousands of talented youngsters are doing it every year is a waste of talent which society needs.

A Rave Review

THIS SPACE RESERVED FOR A RAVE REVIEW: "Jacques Brel Is Alive and Well and Living in Paris" has been raved about before. It was such a success during the Stanford Summer Festival run, producer Steve Baffrey held it over.

Now the far-sighted Palo Alto entrepreneur has honed, polished, recast, assembled new musicians, moved it into the big city, recostumed the four member revue and it is even BETTER than before. The Marines Memorial Theatre has exactly the right cabaret setting for the infectious 26-song show.

Betty Rhodes, part waif, part Piaf, part gamine sings through the first few numbers with a touch of a wry smile on her face, like maybe she'll burst out in a boop-boop-de-doo number. But when she stands solo and opens her throat to let her heart spill out, you don't know if you've been hit or hugged.

The melancholy of Edith Piaf, vibrato of Judy Garland, sweet and sour anguish of Guiletta Masina, and coy seduction of Juliette Greco all packaged into an expressive face that shouts out for love and understanding. Miss Rhodes sings the only Brel song not translated into English, "Marieke" which tells of his homeland, Flanders, is sung in Flemish. I was reduced, not only to tears, but sobbing out loud . . . and I wasn't alone.

Car Insurance

THE MAJORITY of Americans realize the financial ruin which very possibly could result from operating a car without insurance and avail themselves of at least basic insurance coverage.

However, the consumer today is too often victimized when he goes into the market place seeking protection for himself and his car. Since 1958 at least 109 automobile insurance companies, with little or no wanring to those dependent upon them for basic protection, declared insolvency leaving thousands of policy holders in the automotive area without protection.

There was an estimated $200 million worth of lost premiums and unsatisfied claims as the result of the insolvency of these companies.

It is mandatory in Washington, D.C., New York and North Carolina that all car operators carry insurance on their vehicle. Maryland and Virginia have no state laws concerning car insurance but do not allow car owners to carry out of state auto insurance.

CALIFORNIA has no mandatory auto insurance law but in case the unexpected does strike, the automobile operator and owner must be able to prove financial worth or run the risk of having his or her car impounded and license cancelled.

Three states, New York, New Jersey and Maryland have already taken steps to protect their citizens from the financial collapses of insuring companies and have established state guaranty funds.

A Federal Insurance Guarantee corporation act patterned after these states on a national basis was recently introduced into the House.

This bill would provide for the creation of an insolvency fund to be financed by the assessment of all interstate carriers at a rate of one-eighth of 1 per cent of the yearly net of directly written premiums. From this fund, moneys would be available to reimburse policyholders whose insurance companies became insolvent. Administrative costs of the Federal corporation would be met from these funds.

COVERAGE would extend to all forms of automobile and casualty insurance. A three-man corporation would be set up with a 19 man advisory committee, functioning through State regulatory authorities. Provision would be made for Federal-State cooperation in administrating the guaranty fund, and for conducting examinations of companies applying for guaranty status under the act.

Policyholders would be protected in two direct ways by this measure:

(1) Any insolvency victim will have recourse to a Federal Guaranty fund in order to preserve insurance protection.

(2) Through Federal-State examination and regulation, financial conditions of insurance companies will be upgraded in order to reduce possibilities of insolvency.

S.F. Man, Son Drown In Rough Pacifica Surf

Pacifica Police reported a double drowning Sunday of a San Francisco man and his teen-age son, whom he was trying to save.

Police said they received a call at 12:08 p.m. Sunday that a surfer was in trouble at Shore Park Beach, at Salada Avenue and Beach Boulevard in Pacifica. The man, identified as Edward Joseph McCarthy, 45, of 56 Del Monte Street, in San Francisco, was given artificial respiration and rushed by ambulance to Mary's Hospital in Colma.

He was pronounced dead on arrival at 12:35 p.m. and listed as a probable drowning, according to police.

Meanwhile, it was believed that his son, Edward Michael McCarthy, 17, of 56 Del Monte in San Francisco had also drowned. Young McCathy was surfing when his father, who was parked in a car overlooking the beach, was informed of Edward's trouble by his younger son, Albert Joseph McCarthy, 14. Albert had been watching his brother surf.

When McCarthy tried to rescue Edward, he bagan to flounder in the heavy surf. A bystander, Vic De Anda, of 20 San Jose Avenue, Pacifica, went into the water and pulled McCarthy up onto the beach.

De Anda, on learning that there was another person in the ocean, attempted to rescue Edward, but said that he was unable to due to the strong waves.

The Coast Guard, requested to search the area by helicopter, along with police and fire department units, failed to locate the boy. His surfboard later washed up on the beach a few yards from where he was first seen going surfing, according to police.

Policemen Quarantined At Daly City

Three Daly City policemen, a patrol car, and an ambulance were temporarily quarantined Friday after coming in contact with a man stricken with infectious hepatitus.

The unusual case actually began some weeks ago when Detective Roger Austin arrested James Barrientos, 20, of 298 Vista Grande Avenue, on charges of being under the influence of drugs and of possessing dangerous drugs.

Barrientos was sent to San Mateo County Hospital for treatment.

Shortly after his release from hospital it was discovered that he was a "carrier" of infectious hepatitis and an all-points alert was issued for his pick up.

On Friday morning while on another case, Detective Sergeant Robert Staples spotted Barrientos walking along Bruno Street and radioed for uniformed police to pick up the suspected carrier.

Officers Charles Munday and John Casey responded with a team from the Mercy Ambulance Company.

Barrientos was taken back to County Hospital for treatment.

Under the rules of the department, the officers and patrol car were examined, and Mercy Ambulance owner Kevin McDonald ordered his ambulance sanitized before responding to any further calls.

S.M. County Target Area Homes' Study

A study of housing problems among the poor is now being conducted by the County Regional Planning Committee in Daly City, East San Mateo, East Palo Alto, and the Dumbarton Bridge area.

The study, expected to be concluded in January, 1970, is being conducted by Corwin R. Mocine, of Williams and Mocine.

In a briefing on progress of the study before the RPC general meeting Thursday, Mocine explained his offices, working on what was interpreted as a limited budget, is looking into the entire spectrum of housing in the four target areas — not just low income housing.

Menlo Park Councilman Mike Delangie suggested the study be thorough and not just aimed at cleaning up so-called ghetto areas.

He recommended the income of those living in such areas be raised, instead of simply tearing down homes and putting up new ones.

Delangie asked Mocine if this would be part of the study and the consultant answered the study would encompass several points. He did not go into detail on the matter.

The "raising of income" of residents of the target areas held promise that some county officials might work toward "opening more doors" to minorities in the trades field and pushing for higher incomes on other jobs.

Daly City Cool To Shopping Center

A proposed Colma shopping center directly across the Junipero Serra Freeway from the sprawling Serramonte Shopping Center is not expected to be enthusiastically embraced by Daly City officials.

Mayor Bernard (Bud) Lycett, for one, personally is not in favor of a competing shopping center located in Colma that might cut into sales tax revenues generated by the regional Daly City Shopping Center.

"One of this city's main sources of revenue is across the street (from the proposed Serra Shopping Center) and I'm just not going to support something that is going to compete with it," Lycett vowed.

According to records, the 45-acre parcel was graded by the Arthur "Buz" Haskins Company and initially the council was told the site would serve as industrial complex.

Later, rumors fluttered around the city that a discount store would move onto the land. This prospect did not upset Serramonte or city officials inasmuch as both sides felt the discount store would draw additional people to the shopping center itself.

The matter of the new shopping center was not brought to light until earlier this month when E. M. DeRenzo ,a representative of developers Cabot, Cabot and Forbes, requested water service from Daly City.

"I frankly don't know what is going in there," Lycett remarked.

He instructed City Mgr. Dave Rowe to contact the developers for further information.

Subdivision Map Delay

Acceptance of the final map on a subdivision at the southeast corner of Greendale Drive and Baldwin Hills Court in the Westborough West Park planned community has been temporarily held up.

South San Francisco city councilmen delayed approval until the engineering firm, Tronoff Engineers and Planners, corrects ten items Louis Goss, director of public works, termed "minor."

An inter-office memo dated July 29, 1969, from the city planner recommended approval of the instant final map. However, Goss, in a letter dated September 10, instructed Tronoff Engineers to make the ten corrections.

At the 4:30 p.m. study session of the city council Monday, prior to the 8 p.m. evening session, Goss informed the councilmen he was "just handed a let-

100 Conventions Booked for County

Sal Millan, general manager of the San Mateo County Fair and Convention Center, said at a luncheon of California Mission County Visitors Association on Friday that the county already has 100 conventions booked for the next three years.

Although the title of the meeting was "The Crisis of Complacency in California Tourism," Millan pointed out that San Mateo has increased bookings and funds from tourism over ten per cent in the last two years. The state has dropped five to six per cent in similar categories over the same period, he said.

Recently, Millan remarked, San Mateo has enrolled in a regional program to "closely identify ourselves purposely with San Francisco."

Internally, he said, "we are engaged in a 'why go to strangers' campaign designed to create an awareness of natural assets we have." He went on to say that right now "we have 5,000 rooms in the county, and anticipate 2,000 more rooms inthe next 18 months. Our campaign says, 'Stay here', we're selling environment. We're not selling a fun city or anything else. But here we say, relax and enjoy yourself."

Edwin Sloan, managing director of the California State Hotel and Motel Association, said that the big earthquake scare earlier this year was in part responsible for the drop in tourism.

But, he added, we're going to have some 6,800 new rooms between now and 1974 in the San Francisco-San Mateo-San Jose area.

Anytime you have that many more rooms, it's obvious that you need some kind of promotion to fill them.

New hotels and hotel additions in the county are the Marriott Inn in Belmont, with 198 rooms, and plans to go to 270 rooms; the Royal Coach Inn in San Mateo with 270 rooms and plans to go to 1,000 rooms; the Royal Inn in South San Francisco with 135 rooms, opening on Sunday; the Hilton Inn in South San Francisco with an upcoming addition of 200, and th Le Baron Hotel in Burlingame with plans for 340 rooms.

Carney J. Campion, general manager of the Redwood Empire Association, a regional travel promotion agency in San Francisco, observed that "Tourism is the number three industry in California."

An Unloaded Gun Is Used In Hold-Up

Mario Funia, owner of the Evergreen Market in Daly City, decided to bluff two hoods who shoved a gun under his nose and demanded all his money last Friday.

Instead of complying with the request, the 54-year-old grocer yanked the weapon out of the hands of the would-be holdup man and threatened to use it on the pair if they did not leave the store.

But the robbers weren't shaken even though the shoe was now on the other foot.

They started to argue with Funia and closed in on him.

It wasn't until the intended victim reached under the counter and pulled out his own fully loaded .38-caliber revolver that the pair scrambled for the exit.

Funia told police he suspected something was wrong with the robbers' gun when they ignored it.

It wasn't loaded!

The suspects were described as Negro males in their early twenties.

'No Dissension' At Skyline College

By FRANK LAPIERRE

Skyline College has a young, dererminded faculty that is tuned in with today's students, college President Philip C. Garlington told the Daly City Chamber of Commerce Thursday.

And because these instructors are able to "relate" to students attending the county's newest institution of higher learning there has so far been no outbreaks of student dissension uncovreed at the college — yet.

There was supposed to have been a "disruption" at the college on September 23, but the grapevine has informed the veteran college head that the Students for a Democratic Society (SDS) do not have the support needed to carry out a strike at the college at this time.

Skyline College operates separate form Canada and College of San Mateo.

By next spring Garlington promised the college "will be a real gem of a campus."

Although bonds for completing the college were defeated in elections this year, Garlington hopes to finish the project without going to the people for a bond election.

One of Garlinogtn's ambitions is to build a strong minority student program. The college has a large percentage of minority teachers—the largest in the county—according to Garlington.

But the thrust will be primarily aimed at educating Spanish-Americans.

"We have found that in this area there is a larger percentage of persons with Spanish-American surnames," Garlington explained.

Garlington has big plans for the college including, quality recreational facilities that can be used by area ersidents in the off hours, and courses to assist adults during the off-season.

And he's proud that the college hasn't turned anybody away from enrollment yet.

RUSTED OUT DRAIN PIPES at the bottom of a 140-foot-deep manhole on St. Francis Boulevard in Daly City have been blamed for the continuing cave-in on that street in recent weeks. Workers are now drilling around the manhole and inserting three-inch pipes for pumping in a weak concrete solution. Hopefully this grouting will prevent further washing away of the earth at the bottom of the hole, acting city engineer Dave Macabee explained this week. The project should be completed within three weeks. Costs have not been determined, however it is estimated repairs will run into the thousands of dollars. (Post Photo)

J-Teens on Coast Resuming Meets

The fall edition of the Pacifica J-Teens will begin on Friday night, September 26, from 7 to 9:30 with dances at both Cabrillo school and at Sharp Park School. The evening will be devoted to membership drives. Anyone joining that night will be admitted free. Fee for membership cards is $1.00.

The J-Teens of Pacifica, will journey to Frontier Village on Saturday, October 4. The Amusement Park is located in San Jose. Buses will leave from Oddstad School at 8:45 a.m.; Pedro Valley School at 9 a.m.; and Sharp Park School at 9:15 a.m. The trip will end in Pacifica at 5:30 p.m. The day at Frontier Village will include: rides and fun and games. Fee for the trip will be $2.50. This will include: transportation, admission and eight rides. Permission slips and money, paid in full, must be turned into the Park, Beach and Recreation office at City Hall by Monday, September 29 or at the drop in center at Oddstad Park, Fairmont Park or before 5 p.m. at

S.S.F. Saves $1,922 Fee

South San Francisco saved $1,922.89 on the Galaway Drive improvement contract in Westborough because the subdivider, J. H. Snyder Company, agreed to construct one stretch of piping as part of their subdivision at no cost to the city.

The councilmen were lenient in the transaction, too. They agreed to make good a payment of $238.11 to the Lowrie Paving Company for the freight and handling charges on the materials the city would have used on the project.

Councilmen were told the subdivider's gesture was made after the materials were ordered and at the jobsite.

Two Suspects In Murder Gulp Blades

Two escapees from the San Francisco County Jail at San Bruno awaiting trial on charges of murdering a retired Pacifica sea captain June 20 were taken to San Quentin State Prison today after swallowing pieces of razor blades last week in their county jail cells.

Deputy Sheriff Hal J. Cushnie reported that Clarence J. Galindo, 19, told Jailer Larry Brinhurst at 6 p.m. that he has swallowed fragments of a razor blade. He was taken to County General Hospital.

Two hours later, Carlos Lopez, 25, informed Jailer Buuce Radetich that he too had consumed pieces of a blade the third time he has done so while a prisoner at the jail.

Lopez also was taken to the hospital. Both prisoners were held overnight under guard at the hospital and were transferred to San Quentin at 10 a.m. today for safekeeping.

Sheriff's Capt. Donald J. Hartnett, commander of the county's detentional facilities, said he intends to purchase two dozen electric shavers in an effort to curb the recent rash of razor blade consumption by prisoners.

Cushnie recommended in his report of last night's incidents that all razor blades be removed from the rear (felony) cell area and that under no circumstances should any inmates be allowed to have blades, except under supervision of a deputy.

Hartnett said he concurred, hence the reason for the tryout of electric shavers. However, he said prisoners probably would be able to find other objects, such as pieces of spoons, to consume, if they so desired.

Galindo and Lopez are accused of murdering Christian Pedersen, 92, a retirde ship master, when they invaded the Pedersen, 92, a retired ship from the jail facility in San Bruno the night of June 17. Both were captured at the home.

Lopez is scheduled to go on trial in Superior Court on October 20, and Galindo on October 27.

New Citizens In N. County Naturalized

Forty-six persons, all but two of them residents of San Mateo County, became United States citizens Wednesday in naturalization ceremonies before Presiding Superior Court Judge James T. O'Keefe.

Judge O'Keefe and Phil Aaron, representative of the Sequoia Kiwanis Club, gave welcoming speeches to the new citizens, and members of the Women's Relief Corps of Redwood City acted as hostesses, serving refreshments.

Seven members of Cub Scout Den 3, Pack 31, San Mateo, distributed lapel flags to the new citizens.

Those admitted to citizenship: from the North County:

DALY CITY — Malvina Cordova Guerrero, 150 Wayondotte Avenue.

PACIFICA — Ana Guadalupe Alvarez, 496 Lomond Drive.

SAN BRUNO — Alec Ardron Brown, 437 Acacia Avenue.

San Bruno's Math Upsets Burlingame

By GEORGE GOLDING

A gross error in North County retail sales figures has been reported by the San Pruno Chamber of Commerce for nearby Burlingame.

Christopher Menkin, manager of the San Bruno Chamber, explained that the error apparently occurred when figures from Berkeley were picked up from current State Board of Equalization reports. Berkeley and Burlingame columns are side by side, he said.

As a result, Burlingame is shown to have a sales volume loss of $16,808,000 for the first quarter of 1969 compared to the first quarter of 1968, when actually sales increased by $3,588,000.

In the current issue of its monthly "San Bruno Business Report," the San Bruno Chamber reports comparative retail sales figures for Daly City, South San Francisco, San Bruno, Millbrae, and Burlingame.

According to the totals shown, San Bruno sales were said to be slightly down, South San Francisco's were markedly up, Millbrae's sales had increased, Daly City's sales had grown by a third, and Burlingame retail sales had slumped at least a third.

Figures listed for Burlingame showed total sales in the first quarter of 1968 as $47,304,000. First quarter sales shown for 1969 were given as $30,496,000.

This would indicate a sales loss of $16,808,000.

A simple run-through of the same figures, on an adding machine, indicates the numbers are wrong, $13,675,000 wrong.

The given figures add up to $33,629,000 worth of retail sales in the first quarter of 1968, and $30,496,000 in the first quarter of 1969, which would have been a decrease of $3,133,000.

Menkin says the reason the figures do not add up is that part of the column of Burlingame sales figures is correct, and part (including totals which were picked up from the state report), were picked up from the Berkeley column.

Figures that should be shown, he said, include auto sales of $7,599,000, service station sales of $165,000, and "other retail" sales of $1,147,000. The correct sub-total of retail sales would be $13,634,000, Menkin said. Added to "other outlets" sales of $13,274,000, this would produce a total sales for the first quarter of 1968, of $26,908,000.

Compared to first quarter, 1969, sales of $30,496,000, would indicate a $3,588,000 increase this year.

Other sales influences, as indicated in the San Bruno report, are:

Total sales down in San Bruno by $476,000, due to a $1,000,000 slump in auto sales (Gil Hile going out of business); South San Francisco, up $3,387,000 due to increased activity in the industrial areas; Millbrae, up $1,501,000 due to auto sales (Ralph Williams); Daly City, up $7,002,000 due to opening of Serramonte shopping center.

William Hauser, manager of the Burlingame Chamber, said he had not yet seen the State Board of Equalization report, but "the reported figures have to be wrong."

"This is contrary to what my own figures show," he said.

Hauser suggested that a quarterly variation of as much as $3,000,000 might not be out of line.

According to the corrected figures, sales in Burlingame showed an increase in all categories except liquor, eating, and home appliances. Liquor and eating sales were down only $1,000 each, whereas appliance sales slumped $45,000 possibly because Montgomery Ward moved out last year.

Hauser said current indications are that sales in Burlingame are increasing steadily.

Top Scholarships Winners in Area

Some 15,000 of the nation's most intellectually talented high school seniors were honored today by being named semifinalists in the 1969-70 National Merit Scholarship competition. They will compete for about 3,000 Merit Scholarships to be awarded next spring.

The semifinalists were the highest scorers in their states on the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test (NMSQT), which was given last February to some 750,000 students in 17,250 schools nationwide. They constitute less than one per cent of the graduating secondary school seniors in the United States.

The semifinalists are representative of the country's most intellectually able young people, according to Edward C. Smith, president of the National Merit Scholarship Corporation (NMSC). "From this group will come many future leaders in business, industry, and the professions," he said. Peninsula winners include:

SAN BRUNO

Crestmoor High School—Lyle D. Hertzig, Dana E. Laursen, Catherine McNinch, and Wayne E. Winder.

"These students bring honor not only to themselves, but also to their families, their teachers, and their communities. The future success of these young people will, however, depend upon their ability to become productive at the high intellectual levels that they are capable of attaining."

S.S.F. Information Center To Aid Latin-Americans

The offices of South San Francisco's first Information and Referral Center are located in a small converted store in the Central section of the city at 224 Lux Avenue, and consists of a few desks, phones.

But the office's first director, Bob Zertuch explains that they are just starting and are more concerned with establishing a program designed to meet the needs of the city.

Information and Referral centers aren't new, but the Center is attempting to set up some kind of a program, establishing a mailing list of those who need help.

The Center will also provide largely of information and referral dealing with unemployment education, health and welfare.

Education is one of the Center's big goals and Zertuche, along with assistant Silvestre Gomez, who is the community organizer and coordinator, both praised the new Skyline College which they feel is one of the first colleges which is hiring teachers who have involvement in the community.

They hope to reach the low income and often Spanish-speaking peoples through various classes designed to help people deal with the world around like consumer buying.

Teh Center will also provide referral service concerning legal aid and also refer people who need health service to different agencies.

It is hoped by the people at the Center that members of the Mexican - American community will be able to be brought more directly into the mainstream of the community by making them more aware of what is going on around them.

They also hope to attract more minority group businessmen into the city — as Gomez explains, "There aren't enough Mexican - American doctors or lawyers or businessmen."

Zertuche himself feels that he is qualifide to handle the job since he has been a resident of the city for 14 years, a graduate of South San Francisco High School, and a student at Heald's Business College.

"Right now we want people to know we are here," Zertuche said, pointing out that he and all his staff are bilingual, and they can handle some of the problems their Center is designed for.

Variance Approved

A variance request of Dolores Giuliani, 455 Forest View Drive, South San Francisco, has been approved by the planning commission, and received and filed by the city council.

The request was for the purpose of adding a family room to a single-family dwelling.

NELL NORTON

(Sugar 'n Spice)

Good morning, good cooks.

I'll bet that someplace in your kitchen you have either a box, or an envelope (huge) or maybe one of the drawers in the cabinets that is just full of recipes. Recipes that you've saved and intended to try but never do. Then comes the day when you can't close the box, or envelope or drawer and you decide to go through and throw away some of this collection. If you are like me, you end with just about the same amount with which you started — it's hard to throw away a recipe that sounds and looks good. "Maybe I'll try that next week," and back it goes into the drawer.

I can speak from experience on this for I go through this all the time. And my collection is compounded by the recipes I receive from the many food manufacturers. Recently I've been going through and trying out a variety of recipes and today I'll share with you good cooks the results of my testing and tasting.

When we think of chowder we usually think of clam chowder don't we? However, there are many varities of chowder, bean, turkey, shrimp, corn, just about any type you want to try. Recently I found a recipe for this chowder which used frozen succotash as its main ingredient and it was so easy to make and so tasty that I marked it as one to share with you.

SUCCOTASH CHOWDER

6 slices lean bacon
2 Tablespoons butter
½ cup finely chopped onion
1 cup thinly sliced potatoes
½ cup water
1 Pkg. (10 oz.) frozen succotash
2 cups milk
2 cups half and half cream
salt and pepper to taste

Snip the six slices of bacon into crosswise strips. Fry until crisp. Remove from pan, drain. Melt the two tablespoons butter in a heavy saucepan, add the half cup shopped onion and cook until transparent, not brown. Add the cup of potatoes and half cup water. Bring to a boil, cover and cook and simmer until tender. Add the package succotash and cook 15 minutes, or until beans are tender. Add the milk and half and half cream and heat to a serving temperature. (Don't boil it.) Season to taste wih salt and pepper. Serve wih a garnish of the bacon bits. Serves six.

If you and your family are garlic fans you will love these potatoes. They are easy to prepare and colorful with fresh parsley. The recipe called for minced garlic but I placed the buds of garlic between wax paper and mashed them, it was easier.

GARLIC POTATOES

4 large potatoes
½ cup cooking oil
2 small garlic buds, minced or mashed
¼ cup fresh parsley, chopped
¼ cup flour

Pare and slice the four potatoes crosswise, one-fourth inch thick and place in a heavy saucepan. Barely cover with boiling water and salt to taste. In a small skillet, slowly saute the two cloves minced garlic in the half cup oil. Stir frequently and when the garlic begins to turn golden, quickly add the fourth cup parsley and continue cooking for one minute. Add the fourth cup flour gradually and stir until smooth. Pour this mixture into the potatoes. Cover the saucepan and simmer until potatoes are tender, about 20 minutes.

Serves six.

This next salad is one that I've made for years, it's one of those recipes that I've made so often I don't even bother to measure the ingredients any more. But upon deciding I wanted to share it with you good cooks, I carefully set down each amount as I added it. This makes a very tasty addition to a tossed green salad.

VEGETABLE SALAD

Lettuce
1 can peas (No. 303) drained
1 large stalk celery, chopped
3 green onions, chopped including some of the tops
1 tablespoon lemon juice
3 tablespoons mayonnaise
garlic salt to taste
paprika to color

Clean, break and chill lettuce. In a mixing bowl combine the drained peas, the chopped celery, three green onion chopped, the tablespoon lemon juice, three tablespoons mayonnaise, garlic salt to taste and paprika to color. Mix lightly and cover and place in refrigerator to chill. When ready serve combine with the lettuce and toss lightly.

My friend Phyllis Cecchettini is such a good and enthusiastic cook that she can just talk about a recipe and make it sound so delicious that I can't wait to try it. Recently she called to tell me about this recipe for Italian bread. I tried it, it's great.

BUCCELLATTO

4 eggs, well beaten
1½ cups sugar
¼ teaspoon grated lemon peel
2 teaspoons liquid anise
3 cups flour
1 teaspoon cream of tarter
1 teaspoon soda
1 cube margarine, melted
¾ cup raisins

In a large bowl beat the four eggs well, add the one and one-half cups sugar gradually, beating as you add. Next add the one-fourth teaspoon grated lemon peel and two teaspoons liquid anise. Sift together the three cups flour and one teaspoon each cream of tarter and soda. Melt the cube of margarine and add to the egg mixture alternately with the sifted dry ingredients. Fold in the three-fourths cup raisins. Pour ino a greased and floured tube pan and bake in 350-degree oven 45 to 60 minutes. Cool in pan for ten minutes, turn out on cake rack and cool completely before cutting.

Partnership of Fish and Wine Accomplishes Pairing of Flavors

Bread and butter ... strawberries and cream ... cheese and crackers ... ham and eggs ... baked beans and brown bread ... fish and white wine. How many more food partners like these can you name? Probably a lot will come quickly to mind with each partner contributing its own subtle "something" to the delicious pairing.

Let's take the partnership of fish and wine as an example. In this recipe, for Fish Portions Bercy, a unique pairing of flavors has been accomplished. The hearty flavor of the breaded fish portions just naturally called for a robust wine companion like one of California's dry white table wines. (And, being practical, we planned the recipe so that you cook with and serve the same wine, a chilled Chablis or Sauterne.)

Perhaps we should explain this partnership just a little more. Golden brown, crisp fish portions share the plate with just-tender noodles which are plunged into an "almost Bercy" sauce; next to them we recommend putting tangy-sweet cling peach halves, heated or chilled just as you like them. The fish portions (rectangular, square or round pieces cut from frozen blocks of cod, haddock or pollock fillets) are conveniently battered, breaded and, in most instance, partially cooked. All you do is remove them from the freezer and complete the cooking and crisping in accordance with the helpful instructions on the package. And what could be nicer than having so much of the fish preparation work done for you?

The "Bercy" part refers to a French sauce made classically from a creamy white sauce enhanced with fish broth, white wine and minced cloves of shallot, a mild-flavored member of the onion family. Our recipe nearly duplicates a Bercy Sauce, lacking only the time-consuming fish broth as an ingredient. Instead, we've put the fish in the guise of portions on the plate where you can get a real forkful of flavor.

In October there'll be a Fish 'N Seafood Parade passing by; so now's the time to pick some other fish-and-wine partners from the many wines and fish, fresh or frozen, available across the country. How about marinating a pound of flounder fillets in one cup of dry white table wine and two teaspoons of salt for half an hour or so? After removing the fillets, pat them dry and arrange in a well-greased shallow baking dish. Top them with this mixture: One-half cup each of mayonnaise and sour cream with two tablespoons finely chopped green onion stirred in. Sprinkle them liberally with fine, dry bread crumbs and sparingly with paprika. Bake in a 500-degree oven just until the fillets flake easily when tested with a fork (anywhere from 5 to 10 minutes). Serve lemon wedges for an extra flavor note.

FISH PORTIONS BERCY

- 12 frozen raw breaded or Frozen pre-cooked fish portions (2½ to 4 oz. each)
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1 teaspoon seafood or poultry seasoning
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon paprika
- 2-thirds cup (small can) evaporated milk
- 1-third cup water
- ½ cup white table wine (e.g., Calif. Chablis or Sauterne)
- ¼ cup chopped shallots or green onions
- 1 tablespoon chopped parsley
- ½ package (8 oz.) noodles, cooked and drained
- 1 can (1 lb. 13 oz.) cling peach halves, drained

Prepare frozen fish portions as directed on package. Meanwhile, in medium saucepan, melt butter; remove from heat. Blend in flour, seafood seasoning, salt and paprika. Combine evaporated milk and water; gradually add to flour mixture, stirring until smooth. Over medium heat, bring sauce to boiling, stirring constantly until it thickens. Add wine, shallots and parsley; heat, but do not boil. Stir hot cooked noodles into sauce. Serve hot fish portions with noodle mixture and peach halves as accompaniments. Makes 6 servings.

Marie Might Have Swung To Turkey

Marie Antoinette might not have come to such a dismal end if she could have reworded her famous quotation of "Let them eat cake" to "Let them eat turkey." Unfortunately, turkey wasn't available during the eighteenth century in the quantities or quality that it is now.

Food and its availability and price has always been a major factor in history, and it is certainly no different today as the consumer is becoming more and more aware of the total on her grocery checkout receipt.

To get the most value per dollar the homemaker must select best food buys for her family from some 8,000 items offered for sale in the average supermarket. Turkey is considered one of these "best buys" as a low-cost, high-quality protein food and as a main dish it replaces the more costly red meats.

Of course, prices vary from region to region but in a large midwest market a recent check of prices showed that whole turkeys were selling for 49 cents a pound. Compare this to 69 cents a pound price for hamburger in the same region. And the comparison doesn't stop there. From the nutritional standpoint you may find it interesting to note that cooked turkey meat provides approximately 23 per cent more protein than an equal amount of cooked hamburger. And if you are interested in keeping fat intake low turkey is the winner, too, as it contains 70 per cent less fat than an equal amount of hamburger. Turkey meat is also a good source of many of the other known vitamins and minerals that are needed to maintain good health.

All this food value at such a low cost sounds almost too good to be true, but it is true and the increased use of turkey in family meals cannot only ease the food budget, but help keep nutritional intakes at a high level.

So, if your family is revolting because of the meals you are serving while trying to keep the budget in line, "Let them eat turkey."

An Oriental Mood When Two Dine In

Cooking for two can be less exacting since there are only two palates to please. Oriental menus which are usually low in calories and loaded with flavor should be included for pleasing variety.

- 1 cup diced cooked turkey
- 1 can (5 ounces) water chestnuts, drained and sliced
- 1-third cup cooked chopped spinach

Roulade Stuffed With Salmon Can Be Fare for Peasant or Royalty

If there is one homemade product which spells hospitality the world round, it is freshly baked bread, and bread and the honest smell of bread baking are as old as civilization itself. As civilization progressed, "stuffed" bread became the fad.

Before cutlery and long before the advent of our present sandwich, bread was wrapped around a variety of savory fillings in parts of the world as widely separated in distance and culture as Mexico and Persia.

The French peasant lunch consisted of a loaf of crusty bread with a selection of sliced cheese, meats and pickles, and this was the progenitor our currently popular "poor boy" sandwiches.

Small loaves of bread stuffed with meat and cheese were doled out to hungry children by French nuns during the "starving" times, and a New Orleans luncheon specialty for many years has been a hollowed out hard roll filled with hot poached oysters.

So there is nothing new about homemade bread filled with a savory mixture to make a meal unto itself, the only new twist to a roulade or "jelly roll" stuffed with salmon is that it is a luncheon dish suitable for peasant or royalty alike.

And because of the rich sauce served with it, it becomes fork food rather than finger food, removing it almost completely from the sandwich category. The "bread" has a tender texture more like a sugarless cake, and salmon, the King of fish, makes the most colorful and appetizing filling with a flavor adored by young and old, rich and poor, and suitable as luncheon fare for family or guests. Take time to try it today, it doesn't take long.

SALMON ROULADE WITH CREAMY SAUCE

Serves 6

4 tablespoons butter
1 cup all-purpose flour
½ teaspoon salt
Pinch cayenne pepper
2 cups milk
4 egg whites
1 teaspoon sugar
4 4egg yolks
Salmon filling and sauce (see below)
Green grapes for garnish.

Oil a baking pan, 15 x 10 x 1-inch, line with waxed paper and oil the paper well. In saucepan melt butter. Stir in flour, salt and cayenne. Gradually stir in milk and cook, stirring constantly, until sauce is smooth and thickened. Beat egg whites until they form soft moist peaks. Beat in sugar. Beat egg yolks until foamy and very slowly beat in the hot sauce, beating until mixture is thoroughly blended. Fold in beaten egg whites. Spread mixture evenly in prepared pan and bake in preheated 350-degree F. oven for 30 to 35 minutes, or until golden brown and the top springs back when lightly pressed with fingertips. Remove from oven. Loosen around edges with spatula and turn the pan over onto two overlapping sheets of waxed paper. Lift off pan and peel paper from bottom of the "bread." Spread "bread" with salmon filling and roll up, jelly-roll fashion. Using the waxed paper for support roll the roulade onto a warm serving platter. Spoon remaining sauce over and garnish with grapes Slice into thick slices for serving.

If serving time is delayed, keep the roulade warm in a 300-degree F. oven. Do not garnish with sauce and grapes until ready to serve.

SALMON FILLING AND SAUCE

1 pound can salmon
1 cup halved seeded green grapes
2 tablespoons diced pimiento
3 tablespoons butter
1 tablespoon salad oil
2 tablespoons minced onion
½ cup chopped celery
4 tablespoons all-purpose flour
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 cup salmon liquid plus milk
1 cup light cream
½ cup heavy cream

Drain salmon, reserving liquid. Flake salmon, mix with grapes and pimiento and set aside. In saucepan heat butter and salad oil and in it saute onion and celery until onion is tender but not brown. Stir in flour, salt and pepper. Cook, stirring constantly, until mixture bubbles. Gradually stir in salmon liquid and milk. Stir in light cream and cook, stirring constantly, until sauce is smooth and thickened. Add 1 cup of this sauce to the salmon mixture and blend. Reserve remaining sauce. Whip heavy cream and fold into reserved sauce. Reheat over hot water and spoon over roulade just before serving.

Convenience Foods Grow In Importance

When offspring leave home, many mothers must learn to cook for two all over again. Reduced shopping lists and recipes create a whole new routine. The big cuts of meat are no longer practical so there are fewer leftovers. Convenience foods become more important.

Hamaroni An Appealing Contrast

Bubbling comes the macaroni right out of the oven — and frosty is the coleslaw which has been crisping in the refrigerator. What an appealing contrast!

Hamaroni Cole Slaw

Guessing Game For a 'Short' Sports Week?

By LE PACINI

And now it's time for our first annual Baseball Test:

1. — What starting pitcher has the major league record for the lowest single season earned run average?

2. — Who are the only three players in major league history to have played in the four decades spanning the '30's through '60's?

3. — Who is the one major league player to have played in the four decades spanning the '20's through '50's?

4. — What players hold the single season homerun records for their positions? (Name only one outfielder.)

5. — What are the odds against anyone breaking Joe Dimaggio's 56 game consecutive hitting streak?

6. — What state in the union has produced more big leaguers than any others?

7. — What foreign country has contributed the most players to the majors?

8. — What big league pitcher holds the record for the most strikeouts averaged per nine innings game?

9. — What pitcher holds the lifetime record for the most strikeouts averaged per nine innings game?

10. — What batter holds the lifetime record for the worst strikeout ratio?

11. — What left-handed pitcher stands eighth in all-time rankings for most strikeouts averaged per nine innings game in a single season? (If you get this one, you will get the San Mateo Times — not the paper — the whole building!)

12. — What batter has the second best lifetime homerun ratio? (Ruth, of course, has the best.)

(Answers are at the bottom of this column. No peeksies.)

MISCELLANY: This one should have gone in our quiz, but then it would have made a thirteenth question and, while we're not superstitious . . . However, bet you didn't know that Jimmy Foxx pitched during two seasons. He took the mound for the Red Sox in'39 (one inning) and for the Phillies during his brief come-back in '45. And he did well, appearing in nine games (two starts), throwing 22.2 innings, allowing only 13 hits while winning one and compiling a 0.64 ERA.

Allie Sherman's firing from the football Giants produced a curious bit of dialogue between Giant owner Wellington Mara and whatever wire service reporter it was who interviewed him.

Said Mara, in part, "Since 1961, all decisions affecting the operation of our football team have been made by Al Sherman and myself. Because I find recent results unacceptable, I have taken the following steps . . . (after which he told about firing Sherman and hiring Alex Webster)."

We don't know whether Mara realizes it or not, but assuming that he was properly quoted, he accepted the responsibility for being at least half of the team's problems. Now, we can't expect an owner to fire himself, but we think that Mr. Webster had better figure on being at least twice as brilliant as Sherman to make up for Mara's admitted deficiencies.

WE HAD JUST GOTTEN our eyes adjusted to discerning the fine difference in the small-print box scores between Fairly (Ron) and Fairey (Jim), when the Dodgers shipped out Fairey, which reduced the problem greatly, and then erased the problem completely by selling Fairly to Montreal, which of course negated the Fairly-Faireys ever getting together again — on a Dodger team. But what the Dodgers of course did to us world of losers is recently sell Fairey to Montreal, so now Fairly-Fairey are back together again, and if you think this wasn't a tough item to write. . . .

LOCAL NOTES: Former Terra Novan Mary Coil's Amarillo team (The Texas League Giants) won its division in the TL and then played it off in a five game series with Memphis (Mets), which they lost.

Do you notice any parallels there?

Marty, incidentally, finished up hitting .278, playing mostly against lefties. He did play most of the final two weeks down the stretch, though, and contributed significantly to Amarillo's come-from-behind run.

Elmer Harris, Pacifica's wandering golfer, grabbed another trophy with partner Ed Campion when they won the Philippine two-man team trophy in the world senior golf tournament at Colorado Springs. Harris and Campion also tied for third in the Bermuda Cup division.

HERE ARE the answers to the above brain teasers:

1. — Bet you thought it was Bob Gibson. But he holds only the National League record. The major league record is held by Three-Finger Brown, who had a 1.04 ERA for the Cubs in 1906.

2. — Mickey Vernon, Early Wynn and Ted Williams. Vernon broke in with Washington in 1939 (playing 76 games) and finished with Pittsburgh for part of 1960, pinch-hitting nnie times. Wynn also started with Washington in 1939, pitching 20.1 innings, and ended it all with Cleveland in 1963, lasting for 55.1 innings. Williams also began his career in '39, with, of course, the Red Sox, and hung them up while with the same team in 1960. Unlike the other two, Williams was a regular during both his first and last years. Have you noticed the coincidences? All broke in during the same year in the same league, two of them with the same team; two finished the same year, and all have had connections with Washington, Williams, of course, as a manager. If you want to carry it further, two have the same last initial, and the other's initial is also near the end of the alphabet.

3. — Bobo Newsome. He broke in with Brooklyn for a total of 9.1 innings in 1929, and finished with the Athletics, pitching 38.2 innings in 1953. Bobo also played with Washington during his career. But then he played with just about EVERY team during his career.

4. —Pitcher: Wes Ferrell (9 in 1931); catcher, Roy Campanella (41 in '53); first base, Jimmy Foxx and Hank Greenberg (58 in '32 and '38, respectively); second base, Rogers Hornsby (42 in '22); shortstop, Ernie Banks (47 in '58); third base, Eddie Matthews (46 in '59); outfield, Roger Maris (61 in 161).

5. — Six million to one.

6. — Pennsylvania (1142 — and not only in numbers, but in percentage — 11.8), followed by New York, Illinois, Ohio and California.

7. — Canada (117), followed by Cuba (114).

8. — Ryn Duren, who averaged 11.27 K's with the Yanks in 1959. (Among reliefers, Dick Radatz holds three of the top eight averages in this area.)

9. — Dick Radatz, at 9.77. You should have taken our hint.

10. — Frank Howard. If you thought Babe Ruth, you were way off. He stands only 21st on this particular list.

11. — Are you ready for this one? Murakami (we can't remember his first name), the Japanese native who hurled for the Giants in '65. He averaged 10.13 strikeouts per nine-inning game.

12. — Harmon Killebrew, who has hit homers 7.6 per cent of his times at bat. Ruth hit them for an 8.5 average.

If you get all 12, you're great and you should be out doing something more useful than taking baseball quizzes.

If you got 11, you cheated.

If you got 10, you did better than I did, and I looked them up!

Nine means you should quit whatever you're doing and apply for a research job with the Hall of Fame.

A record of eight qualifies you as a super baseball expert; seven, extraordinary; six, damned good.

Five puts you, roughly, in our league, which may be a league you'd rather avoid; four is reasonable; three is no disgrace; if you got two you were lucky.

If you got one, you guessed, and if you missed them all, you'd better keep reading this column and bone up.

Serramonte's First . . .

Oceana 'II' Spoils Debut of Regents

A young group of Oceana Sharks, spearheaded by three juniors and a sophomore, got things rolling on the proper track Friday.

The Shark gridders made an impressive debut by rolling to a 39-7 victory over Serramonte, handing the latter club its second straight loss.

Junior backs Rick Summy, Rick Blasquez, and Ara Quistain picked up 254 yards on the ground and four touchdowns between them, while sophomore quarterback Teddy Chavez threw for another score.

Summy had the best day, garnering 120 yards on the ground, while Quistain rushed for 86 yards and Blasquez gained 49.

In other prep action, quarterback Don Nava threw for two scores to pace St. Francis to a narrow 12-8 win over Cubberley.

Serramonte	0	0	0	7	—7
Oceana	0	19	14	6	—39

Scoring: S—Peltramo, 16 run (Newman, kick); O—Quistain, 6 run (Quistain, kick); Harper, 15 pass from Chavez (kick failed); Blasquez, 4 run (kick failed); Blasquez, 3 run (Quistain, kick); Summy, 10 run (Quistain, kick); Harper, 32-yard interception return (kick failed).

'NO, I'M ONE OF YOU! HEY, I'M . . .' could be the likely caption for this picture, as two Serramonte High School Regents (right in photo at right) appear all primed to put down one of their own in Friday's game with Oceana. Serramonte lost, 39-7.

'DYNASTY'? DON'T LAUGH

South S.F. Still Winning!

By JERRY LITTRELL
Post Sports Writer

Each year someone makes the observation that surely ". . . this must be the year when the South San Francisco football dynasty must end" but if anyone tries to feed you that line today just laugh in his face.

In one of the more puzzling games of the past several seasons, Ray DeJong's defending North Peninsula League champions completely throttled a supposedly highly-potent San Mateo Bearcat offense and went away with a 19-0 victory.

This was reportedly to have been San Mateo's "best-ever" squad while the Warriors were expected to be tough but not the super-stars of years gone by. So what happened?

"We were all keyed up for this game," admitted a smiling DeJong, scurrying to the locked room. "We had heard about their offense and we knew they were an explosive team but the players really worked hard all week, gave their all during the game and got a just reward for their efforts.

What was brought out by the game was the fact that the Bearcats are sorely in need of a running attack, if the aerial combination of Jack Chambers to Calvin Swann and Co. is to click. It also brought out that the Warriors have another one-two running duo in Leo Bernardini and fullback Rich Goldstein. Bernardini ran up 141 yards in 26 carries while Goldstein powered for 71 of his own.

Goldstein provided the initial spark when he busted through the Bearcat line on an attempted Chris Allemand punt and blocked the kick after which the loose ball was plucked out of the air by Potomoe Sotoa for an eight-yard scoring scamper.

Still in the first period the Warriors struck again when they marched 81 yards downfield in 10 plays culminated by quarterback Brad Brian's eight-yard toss to Donovan Wool.

Four times the Warriors sustained long ball-control drives in the opening two periods while the stubborn South City defense refused to let the SM offense get untracked. The third drive ended the scoring for the night as Bernarini popped over from the five-yard line with just under four minutes left in the half.

The Warrior defensive secondary, led by lineback Ralph Iacini and safety Joe Majka, kept pressure on star end Calvin Swann, who dropped his first two tries and ended the night with just two receptions. Swann was also involved in one of the strangest plays ever seen in the area.

Trailing by three touchdowns and with the ball on the 20, Chambers sent Swann on a streak down the right sideline. He fired a beautiful pass which the highly-touted end caught on a dead run and apparently had a clear field to the end zone. Four yards from paydirt, however, with no defenders within 10 yards of him, Swann just dropped the ball for a fumble and the Warriors recovered, preserving the shutout.

Penalties and mistakes, the tell-tale signs of first games, spoiled the artistic accomplishments of the contest. The usually well-schooled Warriors were caught 14 times for 140 yards in penalties while San Mateo added eight more no-noes for 48 yards. Chambers, who had to play catch up through the air despite the Bearcats inability to establish the needed ground game, threw four interceptions and had several well-thrown passes dropped by teammates. The Bearcats also fumbled four times and lost all four miscues to South City.

Lewis Stars As Westmoor Wins

(Picture, Page 38)

Anyone who thinks that they don't play tough football up in the North Peninsula League should just inquire about the premise from Aragon.

The Dons invaded the foggy environs of the Westmoor Rams on Friday and came away smarting from a 25-6 defeat at the hands of coach Pete Matisi's men.

And the irony of it all is that Matisi's son, Tony, was one of those who had to accept the humility. Tony is a guard on the Aragon squad.

Ram halfback Jim Lewis, playing only one half, terrorized the Aragon defense with 78 yards rushing in addition to a whopping 105-yard punt return.

"We overpowered them with (Al) Lieske and Lewis, and our passing game was vastly improved over last week," noted Matisi. "We still need impovement, but that will come with time and more seasoning," the Ram mentor added.

Lewis got the first score midway through the initial period when he packed the ball in from 16 yards out and then kicked the conversion.

The Ram senior, brother of pro halfback Gary Lewis, electrified the sparse gathering in the second period when he stepped back and took a punt, faked a reverse, and accelerated up the sidelines for a 105-yard score.

Lewis was injured just before the end of the first half and did not see any more action durling the afternoon. However, Matisi said it wasn't serious and that he would be ready to go next week.

Leiske collected the third Ram tally with an eight-yard scamper in the third period and Bob McLennan put the capper on with a five-yard score in the final quarter.

Aragon's lone score came in the third period when Steve Newby busted over from five yards out. The Dons also had a 67-yard pass play from Rich Lent to Steve Boschetti called back.

The 1970 light-your-fire Buicks are here.

They're just for you. The cars you've been asking for. From Buick 1970.
This one is the GS 455. Sleek, sporty, exciting.
Its engine? 455 cubic-inches. 350 horses strong. With a four-barrel carburetor that breathes through real air-scoops.
Four on the floor? A finely tuned 3-speed automatic? Both are available. Power disc brakes. Positive traction differential. High performance rear axle ratios, too. And lots more.
Wide-tread fiberglass belted tires that are standard on all 1970 Buicks give improved traction during braking, cornering and acceleration; significant increases in tread life; and substantially superior resistance to road hazards.
Side guard beam construction for added protection. Body by Fisher.
There's luxury, too. Bucket seats, if you want them. Full carpeting.
Obviously the most exciting car we've ever made.
And one that you've been asking for.
See it. See all the 1970 Light-Your-Fire Cars.

H.M.B. Downs Ravenswood

Last mincte deals in opening practice games are Excedrin Headaches No. 258 for prep coaches who would just as soon see the issues decided in less hair-pulling circumstasces.

Three such games happened yesterday when Hillsdale rallied for a 13-7 win over El Camino, Half Moon Bay also came from behind to whomp Ravenswood, 14-8, and Piner spoiled Jefferson's debut with a last-quarter 8-6 victory.

Quarterback Brad Metheany, who had been having trouble getting untracked in the first three periods, uncorked an 18-yard touchdown pass to flanker Larry Hayes with just 34 seconds left in the game to pull out the win. Scoreless for the first three periods, Hillsdale roared forth with two last-quarter scores as Rob Dean brought the Knights to within 7-6 with his 18-yard scoring scamper just two minutes into the period.

The Colts, under new head coach Tom McCormick, looked impressive on defense all the way and got some powerful running from strong fullback Dennis Neil (101 yards in 23 carries) although their complete offense has yet to jell. Hillsdale's starting backs, Dean and Dean Moore, broke loose for most of their yardage after intermission.

Camino had scored in the first half when Mike Canavan took a rollout option pass from halfback Al Spitzer, even though it appeared Canavan had possibly cut in front of the intended receiver and had to one-hand the ball.

Half Moon Bay, another team which figures to have a strong attack, got the bomb from Jim Emery and a quick fill-in from tackle Burnett Silvera at fullback to defeat Ravenswood last night at Sequoia.

Emery threw a first-period seven-yarder to Jack Jones for the first score but Ravenswood came back in the third period to take an 8-6 lead with a 25-yard PAT run. With only two minutes left in the game Emery hit Scott Haeslett with a 70-yard pass to ice the win. David Hopkins' entrapment of a host back in the end zone accounted for the other two Cougar points.

Silvera filled in in the backfield after starting fullback Ron Micallef was injured.

Rebuilding Jefferson got good action from new quarterback Tony Moss but dropped a two-pointer to Piner. Alan Chalk blocked a Piner punt in the second period and Tom Papke recovered to set up the lone Indian score, Bruce Davidson's one yard plunge.

3 Wrestling Coaches Join In Workouts

A trio of three top college and high school wrestling coaches have joined forces and will be offering a series of free instructional wrestling workouts for South San Francisco's fifth, sixth and seventh - eighth grade boys.

Head wrestling coaches Mike Heffernan of El Camino High School, Lee Allen of the new Skyline College in San Bruno and Al Abraham of San Francisco State College have volunteered their time and skills to teach youngsters wrestling fundamentals on Saturday mornings.

THE POST'S SPORTS

The program is sponsored by the South San Francisco Recreation and Park Department with the cooperation of South San Francisco Unified School District and El Camino High School.

The sessions will be held in the Wrestling Room at El Camino High School starting this Saturday from 10-11:30 a.m. Gym shoes and sweat pants are recommended. No street shoe or jeans will be permitted. There is no charge for this eight-week program which is designed to acquaint youngsters with proper wrestling fundamentals, encourage participation and provide a healthful activity.

Boys will wrestle in their own age and weight division. Interested fifth, sixth, seventh and eight graders should meet at the El Camino High School Gym entrance promptly at 10 a.m. Saturday, ready to sign up and wrestle.

JEFFERSON High tacklers — one unidentified in right foreground, the others tackle Juluio Helena (77) and guard Ken Wendt (63) attempted to bring down Piner High School quarterback Tony Ciapusci (11), who went on for a touchdown in final minutes of Friday's game, won by the Santa Rosa team. A Local 'Boy' Makes Good: Orlich to Help Coach Unit

By JERRY LITTRELL
Post Sports Writer

A local "boy" finally makes good

After years and years of apprenticeship coaching stretching from the hills of Tennessee to the fog banks of Daly City, Michael Orlich has hit the "Bigs."

Earlier this week Orlich was named one of the four coaches who will handle Franklin Mieuli's newest festive inovation — girls' basketball teams which will play preliminary contests to the San Francisco Warrior games. Orlich, who has a county-wide reputation as one of the most astute wheeler-dealers alive, joined Bob Harris, John Way and Bob Bunn as the envied quartet which will supply the brains behind the lady cagers.

The ex-Jefferson varsity basketball coach, athletic director and departmental head who now is the resident commissioner of the North Peninsula League and a work experience director for the Jefferson School District, has never been known to take a back-seat to anyone when it comes to his personal dealings. The coaching assignment was no different. Guess who wrangled the services of super-star Denise Long, the nucleus around which Mieuli has built his league.

MICHAEL ORLICH

In what frame of mind did Orlich approach this new assignment when he sought the job.

"Actually, I was a holdout all summer long," he explained. "The front office was after me right from the start. But I wanted a chance to stand off and look over the whole situation."

Whatever it was Orlich looked at he apparently liked what he saw. He was given 10 girls, team colors of black and orange and the name "Giants."

Not one to procrastinate Orlich has wisely organized three workouts already.

"We really didn't have a free hand in selecting these young ladies," Orlich mentioned, slipping into one of his rare, serious moods. "We had all those clinics and workouts and then the trials and after that a panel judged which girls would be best for the league. The whole list was fed into a computer (Is nothing sacred anymore) and the girls were balanced out, athletically, into four even teams."

Coaching girls in basketball is actually not a new experience for the well-rounded Orlich. Several ("Please don't mention how many—let's keep some illusions going") years ago Orlich spent two years coaching lasses in Tennessee.

"In those days the girls played a preliminary game to the varsity teams in high school," he continued. "They'd play instead of the frosh-sophs."

Mieuli has expressed a desire to have the girls play under the older set of basketball rules, which should make Orlich feel right at home. There will be six girls on each side—three guards, two forwards and a center-forward—with only the forwards and center allowed to score. The guards will rebound, pass and play defense. Three quarters will be played before the regular Warrior NBA game with the final period coming at halftime.

Will there be any changes that have to be made from coaching high school varsity players to teaching these girl's

"Patience is the key word for this group," he stated, puffing on his Averbach-like cigar. "You don't yell too much on or off the floor. And those 'psyching-up' talks before the game in the locker rooms might be a little more limited, allowing for suiting-up time. And those loving pats we gave boys as they went on the floor will probably also have to be curtailed."

Aside from Miss Long, Orlich has a South San Francisco girl, Judy Foster, two from Palo Alto, Marlene Krohn and Shirley Chapman, two more from San Jose, Jean Hash and Beverly McDougall, one from Gridley (Gridley?) in Rob Medley and three others from San Francisco.

"Each team has a so-called star although the girls are all pretty evenly matched. The league will be very interesting and a great experience for all of us connected with it, I am sure."

And what of Mrs. Orlich What were the better-half's views on his tutoring 10 young ladies?

"She has reserved comment until she sees how we do," he smiled. "If I don't do well she knows enough about basketball that she might take over for me in mid-season. She's been a fan for a long time."

Even at the top the pressures on a head coach never cease.

Awards for Coast MVP's

A HIGHLIGHT of recent Pacifica Little League awards dinner at Terra Nova High School was the 'Most Valuable Players' trophies' presentation. Little League president Joe Grasso stands behind the MVP of the National League, Jim Merrick. American League's MVP was Mark Ellefson, standing next to Jeff Carter, "the voice of Candlestick Park," who presented trophies. (Post Photo)
